JEREMY CLARKSON KILLED MY PUPPIES

FULL STORY – PAGE 5

May lays in to BBC over Jezza 'fracas'

FUMING Top Gear host James May has waded into the Jeremy Clarkson 'fracas' scandal after criticising his BBC bosses for their role in the row.

Petrolhead Clarkson has been suspended by the Beeb while they probe claims he hit a producer during a row about a dinner.

Now May (above), 52, has poked fun at Top Gear bigwigs for dragging their heels in dealing with the embarrassing affair.

He wrote on Twitter: "So; it's been a week, and still no answer. How exactly do you pronounce 'fracas'?"

A statement released by the BBC on Tuesday had previously stated: "Following a fracas with a BBC producer, Jeremy Clarkson has been suspended pending an investigation."

Presenter May's dig comes as a petition to get Clarkson reinstated to the flagship Sunday night show topped 875K.

Clarkson has hinted in The Sun newspaper that he could quit the broadcasting giant regardless the outcome of the enquiry.

The gruff 54-year-old compared himself to a dinosaur, before adding: "These big, imposing creatures have no place in a world which has moved on."

CYCLONE HITS PARADISE ISLE

DOZENS are feared dead after a terrifying tropical cyclone ripped through paradise honeymoon destination Vanuatu in what's being billed as one of the worst disasters in Pacific history.

The island nation – off the east coast of Australia – was battered by 155mph winds which reduced homes to rubble.

Now the Foreign Office is frantically working to establish whether any Brits have been caught up in the disaster.

The UK has promised to donate up to £2million towards relief efforts, with "entire communities" in Vanuatu laid to waste by Cyclone Pam. Vanuatu – a chain of 83 separate islands – attracts thousands of tourists from all over the globe each year and is a popular stop for cruise ships. With its enormous stretches of white sandy beaches and rich marine life, it's also a mecca for divers.

The highly populated island of Efate, which includes the Vanuatu capital Port Vila, was directly in the path of the cyclone.

But Oxfam's Helen Szoke said: "We hold grave fears for the people on the outer and remote islands. It's becoming clear that we are now dealing with a worst-case scenario."

LABOUR'S 'STARS' TURN OUT FOR ED

ON SONG: The Voice star at Labour gig

BROAD APPEAL: Ed Miliband with actor Shaun

LABOUR leader Ed Miliband broke out the big guns at his spring rally yesterday... some bloke off of The Voice and a child killer from Broadchurch.

With 52 days left to go until the general election Miliband has been accused of lacking heavyweight showbiz backers.

But "Two Kitchens" Ed did little to dampen that criticism after getting D-list singer Jermaine Jackman and actor Shaun Dooley to speak at the rally at Birmingham's ICC.

Barnsley-born Dooley, 40, told the 1,500 crowd: "I believe in Ed. This is where the battle begins."

And it was 2014 BBC singing champ Jermaine who opened proceedings with a ringing endorsement of Labour's policies – and a little song – before Ed took to the stage.

One voter said on Twitter: "Not being funny but who the hell are these two? It's hardly Tony Blair guzzling champers with Noel Gallagher, is it?"

Miliband, 45, also revealed his five key pre-election promises: "A strong economic foundation, higher living standards for working families, an NHS with the time to care, controls on immigration, and a country where the next generation can do better than the last."

He added: "Today I urge British people to choose optimism, to choose a country for the many, to choose the good of all, to choose hope - and to recognise that when working people succeed, nothing can stop us as a country."

Farage: 'NHS balls-up could have killed me'

UKIP leader Nigel Farage has spoken of his swollen GONAD hell.

The politician says he feared he was suffering with "twisted testicle" syndrome when his left knacker ballooned to the size of a lemon and became "rock hard".

Writing about the 1986 incident in his new autobiography The Purple Revolution, Farage describes how he was told by a doctor that he simply had an "infection" and was to take antibiotics.

But it was only later he learned he had a cancerous tumour and ultimately had to have his bollock surgically removed.

The 50-year-old – who praised the NHS for his treatment after a car and plane crash – said: "My left testicle was as large as a lemon and rock hard. I had been fobbed off by one NHS doctor to the next.

"It has left me with a clear belief that without private health care I would probably be dead."

THIS WEEK'S NIPPLE COUNT

TODAY'S WEATHER

EVIL Siberian winds are going to freeze our knackers and send us back to the ice age.

Sunday will see -2C temperatures with wintry showers possible as far south as Devon and Cornwall.

It'll stay largely dry but rather cloudy.

The odd shower is possible in the east, but it's the gusty air that'll make you feel chilly, especially in breezier eastern parts.

Monday will see the odd shower, but thankfully by Tuesday and Wednesday the weather will return to being mild and sunny.

Busty Kelly has problem with clothes

NO wonder Kelly Brook is always half-naked – the babe says she's too CURVY to wear clothes!

The top-heavy brunette (above) has long spoken of her struggle to find a suitable bra to contain her ample 34E boobs.

But 35-year-old Kelly now says that even buying normal togs is a nightmare, ensuring she's forever getting her nipples out.

The actress and pin-up said: "As I'm a curvy girl, I know how hard it is to find great fashionable clothes."

She's now designed a range of garments for plus-size specialists Simply Be, and adds: "I'm involved in every aspect – choosing prints and fabrics, design, all of it."

Last week Kelly told how her all-natural breasts are an important part of the character she plays in new Yank sitcom One Big Happy.

She laughed: "I'm aware there are jokes in there about having big breasts. I'm in on it."

'Chelle has measure of girls' boobs

BRA boss Michelle Mone says she can't keep her hands off other girls' BOOBS!

The blonde Ultimo gaffer reckons measuring people's knockers is her "party trick" and Scots Michelle (above), 43, is an expert on breasts.

She added: "Boobs are getting bigger. The average bra size was 34B, it's now 36C.

"There's still a lot of work to be done in the fuller-bust market. Some brands make G cups, but you can go up to a J, K.

"Everyone needs a party trick. Mine is measuring people's boobs."

Meanwhile Michelle says she loves her own curves, revealing: "When you're in the zone and looking after your body, it really has an impact on everything you do.

"I can't believe that I wasted 10 years of my life eating and drinking crap, and being eight stone overweight."

MONDAY

ORGANISERS of Crufts probe claims that up to six dogs may have been poisoned during the show in Birmingham.

That's really terrible. We can't have poisoned pooches wandering around Brum. I'll never feel safe eating a balti again!

TUESDAY

JEREMY Clarkson is suspended by the BBC after allegedly punching a producer who was unable to order a steak.

Let's hope he can now. He'll need one for his eye.

WEDNESDAY

THE BBC apologises after John Inverdale accidentally says the dreaded "c-word" on air.

No, not "Clarkson".

The pundit said "rose cted glasses". They sound like beer goggles for people who drink pink wine. Perhaps that's what Inverdale would have to be wearing before he'd bang that ugly tennis player.

THURSDAY

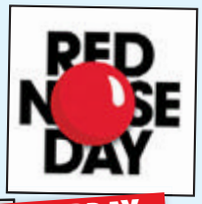

THE government announces that cigarettes must be sold in plain packaging from next year.

I guess fewer pictures on fag boxes will give them more space to write down their brilliant plans for how to run the country.

FRIDAY

MILLIONS of generous Brits dig deep for Comic Relief by paying £3 for a pair of zany scarlet spectacles.

Or, as John Inverdale surely calls them – rose cted glasses.

SATURDAY

A COMMONS report calls for a ban on "designer vagina" surgery, in which ladies have their kebabs re-packed to look neater.

My missus has a designer vagina. I think it must be a Lacoste because every time I go near it I risk getting my head bitten off.

BEEB PIN ORA THEIR HOPES ON RITA

Bosses to make star 'central' in schedules

COR-A!: In demand pop babe has a cracking pair, says our source

By NEIL GOODWIN
neil@sundaysport.co.uk

BBC bosses have vowed to "move heaven and earth" to keep pop babe Rita Ora on Saturday night talent show The Voice.

The 24-year-old RIP singer has been a hit on the show since joining Tom Jones, will. i. am and Ricky Wilson as a judge at the start of this series.

Telly chiefs want to keep the ball rolling and have set up a "Keep Rita" task force at BBC HQ to prevent her being lured away to a big-money U.S. contract.

Concerns were raised earlier this month by Voice host and JLS member Marvin Humes, who told one sleazy tabloid: "Rita is blowing up across the world right now. I wouldn't be surprised if she was too busy to come back next year.

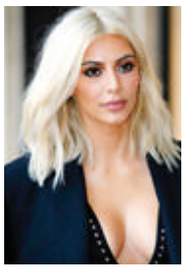

"She was nominated for an Oscar, is constantly releasing number one singles and she has another album coming.

"Recording the show is a huge commitment."

A source told Sunday Sport: "The BBC have got a genuine star in Rita Ora. She's got cracking knockers, too!"

Kim upload sparks bum fun riddle!

BOOTY-LICIOUS babe Kim Kardashian is at the centre of a kinky ANAL SEX riddle.

The stunna, who famously appeared in a homemade sex video, posted something on her Instagram account that had fans convinced she likes it up the POO PIPE.

Kim (above), 34, uploaded a snap of herself and hubby Kanye West along with two 'emoji' cartoon-style images – one showing an aubergine, another a juicy peach.

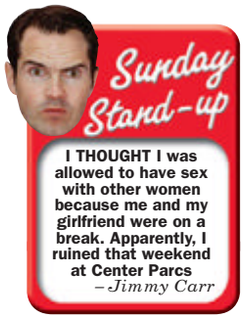

And in internet speak, that stands for 'BUM FUN!'

One fan immediately wrote: "BUTT SEX!"

Another penned: "Omg anus hahahaha!"

It went on and on, with others praising Kim for being so open. One said: "Note that emoji, she's a bad bitch."

Other responses included, "Dick in her butt", "Anal sex hahahahah", "Dick butt?", and "Does this mean she got it in the bootyhole!?"

Smelly sh*t downs plane

A BRITISH Airways flight was forced to return to Heathrow Airport after a "smelly poo in the toilet" had passengers retching in the aisles.

The jet made the U-turn just 30 minutes into a scheduled trip to Dubai after the pong became "unbearable" and developed into a "health and safety" issue.

Passenger Abhishek Sachdev, a councillor from Potters Bar Parkfield, Herts, says the captain even announced they were suffering an issue with "liquid faecal excrement" in the loo.

Mr Sachdev was forced to wait a further 15 hours for another flight, and complained: "You might expect it on some random airline, but not from British Airways."

A British Airways spokesperson said: "We're very sorry for the discomfort to customers."

NEW WOE FOR UNDER-FIRE TOP GEAR STAR

JEREMY CLARKSON KILLED MY PUPPIES

By SIMON DEAN
simon@sundaysport.co.uk

TOP Gear's Jeremy Clarkson came under fresh fire last night when the suspended star was accused of killing three little PUPPIES!

Keith Waterman, 59, says the TV host is "directly responsible" for the tragic deaths of his pups Rusbridger, Toynbee and Greenslade.

Clarkson, 54, is currently kicking his heels after being suspended by the BBC after what was described as a "fracas" with Top Gear producer Oisin Tymon.

Vegetarian

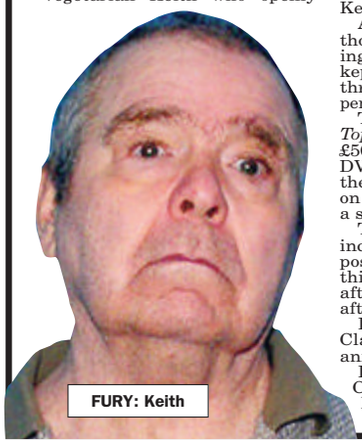

Reports suggested that Clarkson thumped Tymon in a row about a ribeye steak.

The BBC is currently considering the future of the star, who makes them more money in overseas sales than any other presenter.

It's been suggested that un-PC Clarkson, who has frequently upset his left-wing BBC bosses, could even be sacked.

So the suggestion that Clarkson was responsible for the death of puppies – routinely voted (after kittens as) God's cutest creatures – will inevitably put pressure on BBC chiefs to fire him.

Vegetarian Keith who openly admits reading The Guardian newspaper and is a member of the far-left Green Party, spat: "I've always hated Clarkson and now I've got more reason to hate him – he killed my minature schauzers."

FURY: Keith

CUTE: Little puppies 'killed' by Jezza

Keith whined: "I was cooking a pan of mung bean and quinoa au jus when that blasted Clarkson man came on the TV set.

"I squealed to my life-partner Fergus 'Fergus, get that terrible man off the TV'. I was so cross that I dropped the pan – right onto my poor, dear babies. All were killed instantly and it's Clarkson's fault."

Last night a source close to Clarkson made what sounded like a chuckling noise when told of Keith's tragedy.

All the Top Gear hosts were thought to be days away from signing new contracts that would have kept them at the show for another three years when Clarkson was suspended.

The BBC owns the rights to the Top Gear brand, which is valued at £50 million, and includes the show, DVD rights and live shows, raising the prospect of Top Gear continuing on the BBC while Clarkson takes a similar show to one of its rivals.

Two episodes of this series – including tonight's – have been postponed and the future of the third and final episode is unclear after the bust-up, which took place after filming in Newcastle.

It's not the first time that Jeremy Clarkson has been implicated in an animal-killing scandal.

In 2011 a Rottweiler called Clarkson ATE two kittens called Pipkins and Piggy in Crewe, Cheshire.

Princess Kate 'fascinated by kinky group sex'

BOSOM BUDDIES: Kate and her pal Emma

THE Duchess of Cambridge is said to be "fascinated" by kinky high-class SEX PARTIES, we can EXCLUSIVELY reveal.

It's news that'll have Kate Middleton's fella Prince William busy trying to clear his diary.

Kate's mate Emma Sayle – who runs the posh ORGY club Killing Kittens – says the sexy Royal always took a real "interest" in her X-rated line of work.

Emma, 33, became bosom buddies with Kate after they both joined a charity London rowing team called The Sisterhood, who trained on the River Thames.

Nookie

Kate quit the team in 2007, two years after Emma set up Killing Kittens, a company which hosts elite nookie bashes catering for the UK's most wealthy and attractive rutters.

Now Emma, who this week hosted her first shag soiree in New York, says: "Kate knew all about Killing Kittens. She thought it was funny. She was fascinated."

Emma is, though, at great pains to point out that Kate never attended one of the orgasmic events.

THE VOICE OF YOUR BRITAIN

Time for MP transparency not privacy!

IN a general election year, the people MUST know everything they can about the candidates they are choosing to represent their interests in Parliament.

These are days of iron fist party discipline when there is little to choose between the policies of the Conservative Party, Labour Party and the other ones.

So it comes down to the virtues of the men – and, in these "modern" times – women, who stand for high office.

It is ASTONISHING that the people of one constituency in England are not allowed to know their sitting MP likes to have a courtesan lick gravy from his scrotum. (See story on page 31).

Some may say that a man's private life is irrelevant. This is poppycock!

When you go to your MP's surgery, you should be confident that he is listening to your problems – not dreaming about some sauce-based assignation with a lady of the night.

Now is the time for transparency in our political system, not for our political leaders to hide behind artificial barricades of "privacy".

If they have something to hide, let them shy away from public office.

Anti-Clarkson mob in a league of their own

AN awesome hullaballoo has gone up after Jeremy Clarkson engaged in a "fracas" with a producer on the BBC television programme Top Gear.

Mr Clarkson is not everyone's cup of tea, it is true.

But the groups ranged against this titan of broadcasting don't drink tea. They sip gingerly on bohemian infusions of herbs and hedgerow flowers.

The anti-Clarkson coalition is made up of vegetarians, pro-Europeans, eco-nazis, climate change fetishists, hairy-legged women, drooly-mouthed men, pacifists, social workers, limp-wristed beard-sporters, Mexicans, bunny-huggers, union organisers, hippies, soap-dodgers, cyclists, perverts and prodnoses.

With that axis of fkwittery ranged against Clarkson, little wonder the right-thinking people of the realm are right behind him.

Fury at jailed nonces' prison show plan

Rebecca's loving her EE boobs!

THE X Factor star Rebecca Ferguson has confessed she loves her whoppin' BOOBS!

The 28-year-old singer revealed that her all-natural assets are BIGGER than ever.

Scouser Rebecca said: "I feel really comfortable in my own skin. I used to be flat-chested, but I have EE-cup boobs now as I'm breastfeeding, which I love!"

She shot to fame as the runner up on the seventh series of the talent show, losing to Matt Cardle.

Her first album Heaven was a critical success, and was eventually certified double platinum.

CON THE STAGE: Dirty old perverts may get back to treading the boards in prisons

By SIMON DEAN
simon@sundaysport.co.uk

PLANS for a behind-bars extravaganza featuring Britain's most reviled showbiz stars have been blasted by charities.

Celebrity nonces Rolf Harris, Stuart Hall, Max Clifford and Gary Glitter are being lined up to lay on a variety show touring Britain's jails.

The four were among Britain's best known and – apart from slimy dirt pedlar Clifford – best-loved stars before their fall from grace.

Do-gooders reckon they can use the celebrity paedophiles' talents to improve morale in jails and quell potential unrest.

An insider told Sunday Sport: "An important part of prison is rehabilitation. The last thing we want is for these men to come out of jail and start back at their old antics.

Wobble

"A variety performance featuring these four would be ideal: Gary could sing a few songs, Rolf could have a go of his wobble board, Stuart could compere and Max could drum up publicity.

"Everyone's a winner. I'm led to believe that they are excited at the prospect.

"Rolf has been practising night and day, though he's been asked not to do that 'ah-hoo-haa, a-hoo-aha-ha' thing. That's deemed a wildly inappropriate noise to make in a prison cell after lights out."

Claims that the touring band would be called Yewtree have been angrily denied by officials. Yewtree is the codename for the police anti-noncery operation set up after Jimmy Savile's crimes.

Between them, Glitter, Hall, Harris and Clifford are serving a total of 34 years in jail.

Last month Glitter was found guilty of attempted rape, indecent assault and having sex with a girl under the age of 13. He was put away for 16 years.

Hall pleaded guilty in April 2013 to indecently assaulting 13 girls, aged between 9 and 17 years old. He was eventually handed 30 months. In May 2014 he was found guilty on two further charges and got an extra 30 months in prison.

Harris was found guilty on 12 charges of indecent assault and got five years and nine months in prison.

In March 2014, Clifford was found guilty of eight indecent assaults got eight years in prison.

Terry Furey, of pressure group Hey! Paedo! Leave Those Kids Alone, raged: "This is nonce-sense! I am flabbergasted that anyone could even think this is a good idea."

Morgue worker collected cocks

A HOSPITAL worker who collected the genitalia of dead people in jars is facing jail.

Morgue technician Ivica Puratic, 53, was arrested after he sold his house and the new owner found seven jars full of penises, testicles and part of a vagina in the basement of the house in Slavonski Brod, Croatia.

In court, Puratic told the judge he had been drunk when chopping off the members.

He faces one-year prison sentence but the case has been adjourned for psychiatric tests.

Toon clip pulled after boob

AN episode of a top Nickelodeon cartoon has been pulled after parents spotted a female character with her BOOBS and NIPPLES on full view.

The image came in an instalment of Oggy and the Cockroaches, broadcast earlier this month, in which the busty beach babe appears in a photo on a wall.

The footage has been removed from the official website following a string of complaints.

TOWIE muppet, Charlie Sims (the one with the mole) has quit the hit reality show via Twitter.

Chloe's little brother sent a load of bizarre tweets claiming that he has lost not only his on-off girlfriend, Ferne McCann, to a TV show but also his sis, Chloe.

Charlie hit out at the pair saying that he has "morals" and "dignity". Charlie finished his weird rant by claiming "Today I became me, the real charlie sims".

I don't know what's worse, his deluded idea that anyone would give a shit that he's quit the show or his appalling grammar.

Charlie, you won't be missed mate. We only enjoyed watching you to laugh at your mole.

LADY Gaga has been branded a "home-wrecker" by U.S. magazine Enquirer after it was revealed that her latest fiancé Taylor Kinney was dating another woman when the pair first started their relationship.

Taylor had been shacked up with a real estate agent when he met Gaga on set of her You and I music video, and close friends say that Gaga has a long history of stealing other people's men!

Her last three boyfriends were ALL in steady relationships when she came along and led them astray! So why is she being branded the bad one?!

If a man wants to leave his girlfriend for another woman then HE is the dickhead.

She's filthy rich and kind of a big deal!

I'm not being funny, but if Lady Gaga paid me some romantic interest, I'd leave my long term, partner.

I'd also quit my job, leave the country, sell my mum...

SINCE my fave band, JLS, split up they've been very quiet! I for one didn't expect Marvin to be the most successful solo member.

I thought midget Aston would be raking in the money from his sellout tour, album, own perfume etc. He's been VERY quiet, hasn't he?

Until now. It's been revealed that Aston will start work on his solo album this month and his first release could be a duet with X Factor star, Cher Lloyd!

Aston has signed a huge deal with Madonna's old label, Warner Brothers and has a huge list of top producers wanting to work with him BUT I think he's left it a bit too late. He should have ridden the wave of JLS whilst his fans cared. They're all growing up quickly and I doubt any sane adult would buy a record by the poisoned dwarf!

Oh well, if he flops then he can always do CBB.

Hunt for perp who poops on people's cars!

A SERIAL plopper who shat on his neighbours' car bonnets has been caught brown-handed – on CCTV!

And the unknown suspect could now face charges of criminal mischief if he's caught.

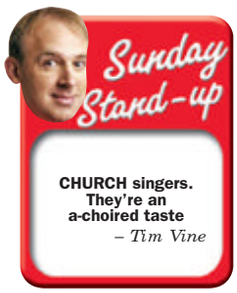

The dirty bastard – who looks to be in his mid-30s – has dumped on at least 19 cars in a small neighbourhood of Akron, Ohio.

But last week surveillance footage was released showing a man bending over a car with his trousers down.

Rather disturbingly, the mystery fella is looking directly into the camera lens.

Resident Jacob Karam – who has been targeted several times – said he hoped the culprit would be now be caught, adding: "He did it on the hood every time. And then one time he took it and he smeared it all over the windshield, mirrors, window, door handles and gas tank covering."

A police spokesman said: "I'm sure there are more victims out there."

DEAN GAFFNEY DOUBLE GETS MARMITE JAR STUCK ON HIS BELLEND

Sunday Sport EXCLUSIVE

TUB-HUMPING: Hapless Alan got cock caught

A MAN who is a dead ringer for former EastEnders actor Dean Gaffney last night told of his horror at getting a jar of Marmite jammed on his BELLEND!

By BARNEY SAMUELS
news@sundaysport.co.uk

Kinky Alan Garside, 32, freely admits he can become "quite experimental after too many ciders."

But the single lathe operator from Godalming, Surrey, pursued a perversion too far when he introduced his erect member into a small 125g jar of the gloopy yeast extract spread.

LOVE IT OR LOATHE IT: Actor Dean is face of Marmite

He said: "At first it was very pleasant as the viscosity of the Marmite made for quite a 'tight' experience.

"But then it started to warm up and run into my chap's eye, which I didn't like at all.

"When I had done, and I tried to withdraw my stiff pecker, I found it was jammed fast.

"The edge of my bobby's helmet had become wedged under the rim of the jar.

Swelling

"I tried to yank it off but that didn't help. Quite the reverse, in fact. It just worsened my predicament."

Faced with the shame of going to his nearest A&E with his member-in-Marmite-jar mishap, Alan pressed a bag of frozen peas on his engorged manhood to shrink it down.

He told Sunday Sport: "That worked, thankfully. But now I think I have frostbite on my shaft."

Alan said he wanted to speak out about his heart-stopping incident to warn other sex experimenters of the potential hazards of Marmite fun.

By coincidence, Alan's lookalike Dean Gaffney is currently starring in a Marmite advert.

However, there is no suggestion whatsoever that Mr Gaffney has ever had sexual relations with Marmite – or, for that matter, any other yeast-extract product.

OAPs in mobility scooter collision

COPS are appealing for witnesses after a woman aged 74 "ran down" an 89-year-old man in her mobility scooter, leaving him with multiple injuries.

The woman collided with the elderly man as he walked along the pavement just after 9am.

He was taken to a health centre and treated for injuries to his legs, arms, back and face.

PC Lucy Allen, of Newhaven, East Sussex, said: "The man was helped to the health centre by two women who were driving past but stopped after seeing he was hurt.

"I am very keen to speak to them about what they saw and anyone else who was in Meeching Road on Tuesday morning who saw what happened."

She confirmed that the 74-year-old woman was spoken to by officers and that she was not injured.

'BABY MAMMOTH' IS DEAD DOG

A PAIR of chancers tried to flog a mummified "baby mammoth" to university researchers.

The duo approached academics at the University of West Lancashire in scenes similar to the hit Sky Atlantic series Fortitude.

They claimed to have discovered the prehistoric remains in a peat bog in Cheshire before demanding £1million for the find.

But a cursory examination found the "mammoth" was in fact the rotting remains of a dead DOG – possibly a labradoodle.

A uni source said: "We think they had been drinking quite heavily."

Jess, from Aberystwyth, purred: "I was bored on the train one day so I took a quick photo of my boobs and sent them to a friend on Snapchat!

"I certainly got a lot of looks but I didn't care."

Jess, 21, stripped down to her favourite pants for our steamy photoshoot, happily guzzling popcorn while displaying her fantastic curves for our snappa.

And talking about her love of glamour modelling, she revealed: "I remember my first ever topless shoot. I was really nervous, I had butterflies.

CAUGHT ON FILM: Webster had a camera in bag

WHAT A LIDL PERV

Sicko filmed up skirts in value supermarket

A PERVERT lurked by women as they bent over freezer counters in his local Lidl supermarket and used a hidden camera to film up their skirts, magistrates heard.

Voyeur James Webster, 35, eventually aroused suspicions as shoppers saw him moving the bag he was carrying so he could get upskirt views.

The court heard that Webster had cut a hole in the bag through which he placed the lens of a camera so he could covertly film between women's legs.

JPs in Slough, Berks, heard: "The defendant was in the Lidl store in Maidenhead. A shopper saw him crouching down and moving a bag under the skirt of a girl.

"He then saw a lens protruding from the bag and reported it to the management."

By JOE GAMMIE
news@sundaysport.co.uk

The store manager arrived to see Webster trying to slide the spy camera bag under the skirt of another woman leaning over in the freezer section.

Webster, who at the time was living in White Waltham, near Maidenhead, at first denied any wrong-doing but later turned himself in to police.

He admitted outraging public decency and his defence told the court he was ashamed of his actions.

Webster, who now lives near Norwich, Norfolk, claims he had been smoking cannabis at the time.

The court adjourned the hearing until next April 7 for reports.

Myleene: My breasts have disappeared!

ONCE busty Myleene Klass has revealed her trademark boobs have suddenly VANISHED!

The former Hear'Say star slipped into a bikini on 2006's I'm a Celebrity…Get Me Out Of Here! and her breasts became an overnight sensation.

Now the 36-year-old says being a mum has reduced her pert pair to a mere handful.

She lamented: "It doesn't matter what anyone says, your body changes when you've had kids.

"For the lucky ones, it's better – and some people will have more to grab hold of.

"I've totally lost my boobs – there's NOTHING left!"

Myleene now designs clothes and undies for Littlewoods and says her tip for looking great is wearing a good bra.

CORRIE'S TINA IS INTO BONDAGE!

Babe spotted with 50 Shades

STREET WISE: Actress spotted with S&M bible Fifty Shades of Grey

By ANN COATES news@sundaysport.co.uk

CORONATION Street babe Tina O'Brien earned herself a kinky reputation last week – when she was snapped carrying Fifty Shades of Grey!

The bestselling erotic novel, by author E.L. James, features several taboo sex acts – including S&M, bum sex and even FISTING.

And now soap fans are wondering just how the 31-year-old actress plans to spend her evenings with lucky boyfriend Adam Crofts!

Tina, who returns to the ITV show as Sarah-Louise Platt later this year, was spotted strolling to the Corrie set last week.

Fifty Shades was also released as a blockbuster movie last month – starring Dakota Johnson and Jamie Dornan.

One of the novel's RUDEST chapters involves the lead character Anastasia Steele negotiating the terms of her "sex contract" with billionaire lover Christian Grey.

He tells Anastasia that her bumhole "will need training" and suggests ANAL sex – but she refuses to let him FIST her.

Last night ITV refused to comment.

School Miss gave 3 boys 'A' levels!

Jailed for taboo sex

A TEACHER who had ANAL SEX with three teen pupils has been locked up.

Kristina McMillan Kelly was caught after one of the victims reported her to school authorities who called in the police.

Cops then tapped her phone and recorded her talking to the 15-year-old boy and telling him she wanted him to perform KINKY sex acts on her.

The 32-year-old supply teacher – who was born in Morecambe, Lancs, and moved to the U.S. when she was 13 – pleaded guilty to sodomy and was given a 10-year sentence, with all but 18 months suspended.

Unholy

A police source from Mobile County Sheriff's office in Alabama said: "This woman was a piece of work.

"Not only was she having sex with three young boys in her care she was making them do unholy things with her.

"When she passes she is going straight to hell – and I would happily watch her burn!"

A former pal added: "She was a lovely little girl, we were best friends at primary school.

"I can't believe she grew up to be a monster."

Nude bet girl goes Do-nuts

A WOMAN told the police that she got NAKED and sat outside a Dunkin' Donuts shop as a dare.

Shakara Martin, 32, said the forfeit was part of an initiation to a cheerleading group which she had just joined.

But cops said they are "unconvinced" by her explanation.

Magdalena Rivera, the employee at Dunkin' Donuts who called police, said: "She was scaring people off. She was scaring our customers off."

Witnesses said Martin was offered clothes several times, but she refused to take them and later began apologising when officers arrived on the scene in Greenacres near West Palm Beach, Florida.

She faces a charge of indecent exposure.

JODIE MARSH EXCLUSIVE

'I just wanted good sex – so I browsed the male escort websites & picked a guy...'

SELF-confessed nympho Jodie Marsh has sensationally revealed she almost hired a male prostitute because she was DESPERATE for a shag!

In an EXCLUSIVE interview, the model confessed that only a "professional" could satisfy her rampant SEX drive.

And the 35-year-old will NOT rule out the possibility of paying for sex in the future, adding: "Never say never!"

She told Sunday Sport: "I nearly used a male escort years ago. I did my research and looked through the websites.

"I had my reasons – I was in a state of sheer desperation at not being able to meet a nice guy, but still wanting good sex.

"I'm not thinking about it at the moment – I've actually been celibate for FOUR years. But never say never!"

By JOSEPH SCRIMSHIRE
joseph@sundaysport.co.uk

Jodie, from Brentwood, Essex, is investigating the rise of women who pay for sex in a new documentary.

She reckons it's BRILLIANT and empowering for women and that most blokes could take a few lessons from male escorts.

She continued: "Oh God, British men could learn lots of tricks from these guys!

"When you pay for a male escort in Los Angeles, you're getting the full treatment – a real gentleman who is also amazing in bed.

"They open doors for you, tell you how beautiful you are – and most importantly they only have eyes for you!

"If these guys offered a service teaching ordinary men how to treat women properly, they would be millionaires."

UNDIECOVER REPORTER: Jodie was top glamour girl

Romps

And Jodie, who boasts bra-busting 32E boobs, reckons that paying for sex is actually SAFER than casual romps.

She confessed: "I've learned a lot from talking to these women and I completely support them.

"I still think hiring an escort from a proper agency is much better than a one-night stand.

"You're getting a guy who is a sexual expert – and believe me, they really know how to make women feel amazing.

"And it's much safer because they've been approved by their employer and will ALWAYS use condoms.

"There are some people who will pay THOUSANDS for therapy and still feel bad about themselves. So if a woman spends the same amount of money on a male escort, and feels better for it, then good for her! That's my view."

JODIE Marsh On Women Who Pay For Sex – the first show in her series of hard-hitting documentaries – premieres on Wednesday, March 18, at 10pm on TLC.

48NN KIRSTY: I NEED A MAN!

A WOMAN with huge all-natural 48NN boobs has told how she's DESPERATE for a boyfriend.

Top-heavy Kirsty Love is the subject of a new telly show on TLC called Strange Love.

And the 36-year-old – a trained massage therapist – says only blokes with HUGE palms need apply to be her fella!

She added: "My boobies do not need to be alone. It's time to find a man!"

Kirsty's amazing knockers weigh a combined 31lbs.

But she complains how she often BURNS her boobs while cooking, as they are something of a fire hazard.

Cleavage

And the beauty, from Atlanta, Georgia, said she doesn't even need to carry a purse or bag.

She said: "In between my cleavage I carry my perfume, my mobile phone, my car keys and my driver's license."

Radio 1 Greg caught out by short & curlies

A CONTROVERSIAL Radio 1 DJ has told how he was caught by his PUBES by angry BBC bosses.

Greg James, 29, made headlines last year when he appeared NAKED in a parody of Miley Cyrus's Wrecking Ball music video.

The short clip shows him swinging around a building site in the buff – just like the saucy U.S. pop star.

But Greg said execs were FUMING because his short and curlies were on display.

Greg told Heat magazine: "The funniest text I ever got was when I did the Wrecking Ball spoof.

"It had to be signed off by the boss of Radio 1. He sent me a text saying, 'We love the video, but we're going to have to re-edit it because there's too many pubes on show'.

"And that was a genuine message from my boss! I'm not very good at downstairs grooming!"

Book to be thrown at library w*nker

A MAN has been arrested after being accused of exposing himself outside a public LIBRARY.

William Hamright Jr, 24, was charged with disorderly conduct, making obscene gestures, resisting arrest and possession of marijuana.

The incident happened outside the York County Public Library in Rock Hill, South Carolina.

A witness told cops she looked out of her window and saw Hamright's exposed buttocks, while another man claims he saw Hamright with his hand inside his trousers and masturbating.

Arresting officers said Hamright refused to comply with their demands and a short struggle ensued as they tried to handcuff him.

It took three cops to arrest him.

Eagle-eyed viewers spot cock 'n' balls in background

THE Jeremy Clarkson debacle was dwarfed last night after a COCK 'N' BALLS was spotted on the set of Poldark.

BBC bosses were already red-faced/glad of the extra publicity when a BURGLAR alarm was spotted in a publicity photo for the new series.

But now another blooper has been spotted by eagle-eyed fans on another publicity photo – a phallus scrawled on a gravestone.

The fully-erect manhood and testicles can be clearly seen behind Charles Poldark (the late Warren Clarke), Ross Poldark (Aiden Turner) and Verity (Ruby Bentall).

A BBC insider said: "The Director General is going to have a fking fit about this. I'm going on holiday."

CORNISH BUSTIES!

Babes from BBC1's Poldark are TOPLESS

By BARNEY SAMUELS
news@sundaysport.co.uk

TIN, pasties, cream teas and one-eyed inbreds chasing "outsiders" to their doom over cliffs.

That's what comes to mind for most people when they think of Cornwall, the sea-lashed home of the snaggle-toothed smuggler.

But there is another thing that puts Cornwall on the map – the popular BBC TV series Poldark.

Screened between 1975 and 1977, Poldark was one of the Beeb's most watched shows and was sold to more than 40 countries overseas.

Flogging

Thanks to the blank refusal of modern TV executives to even consider commissioning an original idea, the dead horse that is Poldark has been dug up for yet another televisual flogging.

Reaction to the reboot has been mixed, ranging from "not as good as the original" all the way through to "the original was better".

In tribute to the BBC's retreading a winning path, Sunday Sport has taken its own familiar route – printing stills of the show's stars with their breasts out!

"Ooo-aaar!" – or whatever it is they mutter down there…

Man spunks into female boss's soup

A WORKER has been warned he faces jail after spurting a dollop of his own semen into his female boss's Cup-a-Soup.

John Cutlip, 28, was originally indicted on charges of pandering obscenity and intimidating a victim, but prosecutors accepted a guilty plea of criminal mischief.

Investigators say all the evidence they needed in the case was recorded by Cutlip (above) of Youngstown, Ohio, who filmed himself wanking into the pot.

He then posted the video of his ejaculating in the instant soup and his boss drinking it, along with jokey comments about it to his girlfriend on Facebook.

The video was discovered by Cutlip's horrified boss, Nancy Johngrass, after he'd gone home, leaving his Facebook account open on his workplace computer.

No date has been set for sentencing.

Buffet owner calls cops after 40-stone fatso's four-day binge

EDDIE AND THE HOTPLATE: Ping is wheeled away after his monster munch

THE boss of an all-you eat buffet called cops after a blubbergut gorged his way through WON TON of grub on a FOUR-DAY scoffing spree.

Eatery boss Hi Ming was initially delighted to welcome local celebrity fatty Eddie Ping to his 24-hour joint.

But after four days of Eddie shovelling immense portions into his gargantuan gullet, Mr Ming decided to call it a day.

He said: "I know I advertise 'all you can eat', but Eddie was going to bankrupt me.

"In 10 years of this promotion, we have never had this problem.

"When I tried to tell Eddie enough was enough he became quite violent, which is a big deal when a man's that large.

WAS CHAMPION SLUG MURDERED?

Sticky end for prizewinning mollusc

SUNDAY Sport EXCLUSIVE

THE mollusc world was reeling last night after a prizewinning SLUG was MURDERED at Britain's top gastropod show.

The Limacus flavus slug, with the show name Cabbage Muncher Sunrise Excelsior, was found shrivelled under a pile of salt behind the Barrow and District Welfare Union Club on Friday night.

The club had been playing host to the North of England Slug, Snail and Assorted Gastropod Show where Cabbage Muncher Sunrise Excelsior had won a rosette for Best Slime.

Poisoning

Last night owner Gordon Jenkins, 56, who is a 26-year-veteran of the gastropod-showing scene was last night too upset to comment.

The death comes hard on the heels of the apparent poisoning of an Irish setter called Jagger after the recent Crufts dog show.

Who's the A-list bean-flick star?

IT'S the whodunit that's sweeping Hollywood – which A-list actress was seen MASTURBATING at an audition?

The shocking claims were made by a mystery casting agent who runs the online blog Secret Agent Man.

He explains: "I took a meeting with an actor, we'll call her Susan. I walked out to greet her in our reception area.

"I noticed she was sitting in the corner chair, facing the wall. Her right shoulder seemed to be jerking up and down for no reason. Concerned, I stepped closer and realised her hand was under her skirt.

"Susan looked up, turned 20 shades of red and tried to explain she was nervous and desperately needed to relax and this was the only way she knew how."

Wife slices ex-hubby's bum cheeks with razor!

A JILTED wife broke into her ex-husband's bedroom and sliced his buttocks with a razor blade while he slept.

Leonard Shumbaimwe, 35, claimed Nyaradzo Mahembe, 33, made repeated threats to kill him with the blade each time she visited his house.

Shumbaimwe was seeking a protection order against Mahembe whom he was accusing of breaching his peace.

He said: "This woman is violent. I got seriously injured after she broke into my bedroom and sliced my buttocks while I was asleep."

Shumbaimwe told magistrates in Harare, Zimbabwe, Mahembe was also in the habit of verbally and physically abusing him even at his workplace.

He told the court: "I can't even sleep at night because she is always threatening to attack and kill me with a razor blade."

Mahembe denied the allegations and accused Shumbaimwe of not paying maintenance to their children.

The magistrate granted an order in Shumbaimwe's favour which barred Mahembe from verbally or physically abusing him.

Get bonking to be brainy

SHAGGING makes you dead brainy!

That's according to sexperts who reckon that keeping active between the sheets helps cultivate grey matter.

The nookie boffins in Holland investigated the sex lives of some 2,000 men and women – finding that those who romped regularly had more mental dexterity.

Knee-tremblers don't just prevent dementia, they improve brain speed, intelligence and memory.

A similar study from the University of Manchester also found that OAPs are getting their end away more than ever,with half of men over 70 still bonking.

Climber who died in 1959 found wearing Apple Watch

MUMMIFIED CORPSE MYSTERY

iCORPSE: Climber's body with high-tech wristwear was allegedly discovered on Pico de Orizaba (right)

EXPERTS were baffled last night after photos of a climber believed to have been killed 50 years ago appeared to show him wearing an Apple Watch!

By SIMON DEAN
simon@sundaysport.co.uk

Two corpses, thought to be of men who perished in an avalanche, were discovered at the top of Pico de Orizaba – Mexico's tallest peak – earlier this month.

Official identification has yet to take place, but it is thought that the remains may be of two climbers last seen in 1959.

When Sunday Sport investigators re-examined the pics of the cadavers, one seemed to be wearing a newly-released Apple Watch.

Intriguingly, the gadgets are not even due to go on sale until April 24 – so logically the missing climbers could NOT have been wearing the devices on their climb.

Pablo Ortiguez, head of the Mexican High Altitude Institute, mused: "Sunday Sport's probe throws up many interesting questions.

"Maybe these men were testing space-age communication devices for the US military.

Hoax

"On the other hand, this could be an elaborate hoax and you are, as they say in your England, pulling me on the leg, no?"

What is clear is that if the watch IS an Apple model, the battery will almost certainly be flat. Experts say three hours of calls will drain them.

Twit 'fingers' Michelle

MOUTHWATERING Michelle Keegan was at the centre of a FINGERING shock last week.

The stunning ex-Corrie beauty had sparked controversy when she appeared in an ad for her fashion range with what appeared to be a missing finger.

In fact she had one finger over the other and took to Twitter to explain what had happened.

Then she followed up with a tweet saying: "Hope that clears up any media stories re my 'missing finger' in my recent @LipsyLondon campaign/ad"

To which Michelle's follower Michael Poole, as @Vampire-Mike2004, replied: "I was going to say 'Hopefully it wasn't your middle one'." in a crude reference to lady masturbation.

Earlier in the week Michelle, 27, whose new drama Ordinary Lies starts on BBC1 at 9pm on Tuesday, was again targeted by a Twitter troll. The star had asked: "How's everyone's Sunday? X"

Follower @jakelawless immediately responded: "Sit on my face."

DEANO ON SUNDAY

● A HEALTH tax of 12p a can on sugary drinks will prevent thousands of cases of diabetes and cancer saving the NHS £300million.

No it won't.

Putting a 12p tax on a tin of pop will simply rake in more money for the government to be wasted on half-arsed guesswork by posturing academics.

Oh, and it will put more pressure on hard-pressed small shopkeepers struggling against government red tape and the Tesco blitzkrieg.

● ACCORDING to experts from the University of Boston, holding the door open for a woman is just as sexist as wolf-whistling or slapping their arses as they pass you.

OK.

May as well give them a goose then, lads. Might as well be hanged for a sheep as a lamb.

Cops are more moron than Morse

ONE of my favourite TV shows of all time is Inspector Morse.

Wonderfully written, beautifully filmed in the gorgeous city of Oxford and marvellously acted by the late John Thaw.

It's also somehow quite reassuring to think that our police officers are wise, thoughtful and have more regard for humanity and common sense than pettifogging rules and regulations.

Alas, Inspector Morse is fiction. The reality is rather more disappointing.

Sophie Lindley was cycling in Grantham, Lincs, with dad Dale, when they stopped to feed ducks.

ON YER BIKE: Modern policing seems a world away from good old-fashioned bobbies like Morse (right)

Threatened

An officer ordered Sophie off her bike, pointing out that cycling on the pavement was illegal. He even threatened to confiscate the bike if she didn't get off.

Now, I've got a four-year-old niece. I can imagine how that went down.

The officer, a man paid a pretty penny to uphold the Queen's Speech uttered those immortal words: "The law is the law".

Yes officer. And a ct is a ct.

What possible harm could be done by a four-year-old on a toy bike with stabilisers? She wouldn't have sent OAPs skittling into the duck pond.

I hardly imagine little Sophie is going to grow up with the rosy view of the Constabulary that many of us had.

But there's a far more important point here.

An idiot who thought it worth his while to stop his patrol car and threaten a four-year-old child is still patrolling the town of Grantham.

Someone who clearly lacks common sense and good judgement is allowed to go around arresting people with the full power of the State behind him.

This is utterly terrifying.

We may broadly respect our police but there are far too many officers like Grantham's PC Halfwit in its ranks.

If we let this sort of silliness go, we are setting ourselves up for the day when the police commit all manner of atrocities under the excuse "the law is the law" or, in another time, "I was only obeying orders."

First they came for the four-year-olds…

Steak knives are out for Jezza

IF Jeremy Clarkson really kicked off with a Top Gear telly producer because he couldn't get a steak after spending three hours in the pub, then that really is the act of a diva.

And frankly, I imagine he's a nightmare to work with.

But after a glance at the simpering massed ranks of the leftie anti-Clarkson camp, I'm with the pube-headed loadmouth.

PAIR SET BIZARRE ROMP RECORD

We've had sex in EVERY service station on the A1

ONE FOR THE ROAD: Jasmine and Niall

By NEIL GOODWIN
neil@sundaysport.co.uk

A RANDY couple are celebrating after becoming the first in the UK to bonk at EVERY service station on the A1.

The famous road stretches from London in the south to Musselburgh, East Lothian, 410 miles away to the north.

It also takes-in a whopping 44 pit-stops along the way.

And now road-trip shaggers Jasmine Lee and boyfriend Niall Porter claim they are the first ever to SHAG in each and EVERY petrol and Ginsters pasty palace on the way.

Quickie

Sex blogger Jasmine, 26, even plans to write a book about their exploits!

The babe, from Camden, north London, told Sunday Sport: "Niall is originally from Durham and we often find ourselves doing the five-hour journey to visit his parents.

"Naturally, like any loving couple, we get over-excited when cooped up in a small vehicle – having a little quickie in the car park or in the toilets is a natural stress-buster!

"A couple of years ago we realised that we'd done it at six services.

"So we made it our mission to spend the next 12 months trying to tick every last one off the list!"

Computer programmer Niall, 27, says that while some service stations are drab, bleak affairs, others stand out in his memory as a fantastic place to get jiggy with it.

He laughed: "Scotch Corner, up in North Yorkshire, was a funny one.

"We got there quite late, found a nice secluded place in the car park and got down to it.

"The next thing we knew there's a bloody minibus full of lads, shouting encouragement!

"We drove off sharpish, and had to return another time to complete that challenge.

"The one at Carlton, near Doncaster, was funny too.

"There's a 1960s-style OK Diner there, and we did it doggystyle in the disabled toilet.

"We must have been quite loud, as a woman serving later came to our table to ask if we wanted any more of their bottomless coffee – but she was giggling and whispered, 'Or would you like some Viagra instead?' Oops! Rumbled!"

It eventually took Jasmine and Niall 18 months to finish their sex-travaganza.

And now pretty Jasmine is looking to repeat the feat on the M6 – a motorway she says she normally HATES.

She explained: "I loathe the M6 – I reckon I've wasted entire days of my life stuck in jams on that road.

Rolling

"But there is one way to brighten the experience – yep… SEX!

"The service station at Tebay is amazing – full of really nice local food and set in rolling countryside.

"That would be a great place to have a little al fresco fun after filling up!"

JIHADI JOHN'S MURDERING MATES LOVE DWARF SEX

ISIS killers hooked on saucy Sky show

W*NKERS: ISIS nuts like Jihadi John (right) love to tug over shows like Game of Thrones

BLOODTHIRSTY Islamic State killers spend their downtime furiously thumbing one off over the dwarfs in Game of Thrones.

The nutters watch back-to-back episodes of the hit Sky TV show and enjoy brisk tugs whenever the dwarfs fumble with the fantasy drama's innumerable naked girls.

The revelation follows news that many of the ISIS fighters battling alongside "Jihadi John" wear NAPPIES to help mop up spillages resulting from their constant bouts of vigorous man love.

Buggery

Intelligence sources say the barbarians – intent on setting up a strict caliphate across swathes of Syria and Iraq – resort to mutual buggery to relieve the stresses of everyday terrorism.

Last week former French hostage Nicholas Henin described ISIS members as being telly-obsessed "fragile people" who could not return home after committing atrocities.

He revealed: "They watched everything, from Teletubbies to Game of Thrones.

"The recruits are fragile people – once pushed to commit a crime when they arrive there is no way they can turn back."

Another MI6 source said: "ISIS fighters literally are wankers."

E-cig blaze turns man's scrotum into balls of fire!

A MAN is suing an e-cig store claiming that one of their products burnt his BALLBAG!

David Powell said sparks were, "shooting from his crotch area," when the lithium battery exploded in his front trousers pocket.

He added: "It burnt me from about here down on both sides."

Powell, of Arlington, Texas, is finally able to wear pants again after severely burning his thighs and scrotum.

He said: "It was very painful. The worst pain I have ever felt."

The former soldier said he had the spare e-cigarette battery in his pocket and was out celebrating his daughter's birthday in August when all of a sudden the battery began sparking.

He said: "I ran inside. I took off my pants and tried jumping in the shower to wash off the lithium and the chemicals."

Powell spent four days in Parkland Hospital's burn unit. Now he's called in lawyers and is looking to sue Vixen Vapors in Pantego.

Jim Ross, Powell's attorney, said: "They have a duty to protect people and warn people of those dangerous products."

MP PAID HOOKER TO POUR BEEF GRAVY ON HIS PRIVATES

CONFESSIONS: Former call girl Annabelle spent 10 years pleasuring 'the great and the good'

By SIMON DEAN
simon@sundaysport.co.uk

A LEADING lawmaker paid a hooker £500 to pour GRAVY over his BALLBAG – and then lick it off as he recited his eight times table.

The senior MP – a household name – spontaneously ejaculated a salty stream of bollock bile when he reached the point "seven eights are 56".

Tha's the claim made by Mayfair-based call girl Annabelle Watson, who recently hung up her sex tackle and is writing a tell-all book about her 10 years satisfying the kinky whims of the great and the good.

Annabelle, 33, says a "large number" of MPs, Lords and senior civil servants were among her clients.

And she said that the stereotype of posh Tories being the kinkiest was DEAD RIGHT.

She said: "Don't get me wrong. I had a lot of Labour lads come through my door. But, like most socialists, they were dull-witted unimaginative halfwits.

"The Tories, though, were different. Much more exciting. My favourite was the MP who liked me to beef pour gravy – which I let cool to room temperature – over his scrotum and them lick it off as he did his times tables.

"It must have been a throwback to his public school days, I reckon.

"Takes all sorts, I suppose and it was easy money for me. £500, I think I charged him. He was always a perfect gent afterwards and brought me House of Commons mints at Christmas."

Last night at the High Court, Sunday Sport was BANNED from naming the MP alleged to have had gravy lapped off his ballbag by Annabelle – despite our appeal under the freedom of expression clause of the Human Rights Act.

School Miss jailed for pupil sex

A PRETTY teacher who had a nine-month affair with a pupil has been jailed for five years.

School Miss Danielle Watkins repeatedly had sex with the 15-year-old boy in her car and threatened to fail him when he tried to break off their relationship.

The married mother-of-two (right) also sent the youngster naked photos on her mobile phone and shared more than 2,000 explicit messages with him.

A court in Stamford, Connecticut heard the brunette English Miss also supplied the pupil and a pal with cannabis.

Apologising for her crimes she said: "I was put in a position of trust and I violated that trust.

"As a parent I do understand how other parents need to know their children are safe when they go to school."

Under a plea deal Watkins could have received as little as nine months in prison, but her threats to the victim broke the terms of that, the judge told her.

STUDENTS TALK SEX!

CAROL DAY
AGE: 21
FROM: Bangor
STUDYING: Marine Geography
UNIVERSITY: Cardiff
FAVE FOOD: Meatballs and pasta
FAVE DRINK: Red wine
FAVE FILM: The Babadook
FAVE ACTOR: Ryan Reynolds

JO KNIGHT
AGE: 22
FROM: Cardiff
STUDYING: Social Analytics
UNIVERSITY: Cardiff
FAVE FOOD: Biryani
FAVE DRINK: JD and Coke
FAVE FILM: Dallas Buyers Club
FAVE ACTOR: Matthew McConaughey

FIRST-TIME SEX
CAROL: My first time was awful. I was wearing a Toys R Us T-shirt.
JO: You weren't!
CAROL: It was cold. It was with my boyfriend who I'd been with for quite a while. It's never as good as people say. You're expecting something better. It's different for a lad. It's more a relief and they can tell their mates they've done it.
JO: Mine wasn't anything special and certainly wasn't what I thought it would be. I expected candles and flowers but I didn't get any of that. It was over quite quickly.
CAROL: And you think you're going to be bad at it but that's what the lad has to worry about.

WILLY SIZE
CAROL: I think it matters.
JO: I've never been out with someone with a really small willy.
CAROL: That's the same with me but I am sure it won't matter.
JO: If it was too small I would be upset.
CAROL: It depends how much you love them.
JO: Six to eight inches will do me.
CAROL: That would do me, too – but I would prefer eight!

FAVE POSITION
CAROL: I like a few different positions because I'm quite flexible. I do like doggy, though.
JO: I'm too tall for that.
CAROL: It just feels nicer but if there's a mirror, then no way.
JO: I like it on top because I like to be in control. Having sex on a chair is also good fun.
CAROL: When I went to Paris I had sex on the sink, which was a spur of the moment thing. That's good, like having sex on the table.

DOING IT OUTDOORS
CAROL: I was at a party and we decided to go outside round the back of the bar. It was deserted but there were some CCTV cameras. We thought no-one would see us but when we had finished we spotted the cameras. We'd had a bit to drunk so we didn't care.
JO: Smile you're on candid camera!
CAROL: I'd gone out in burlesque. I hate going out like that but my boyfriend likes it.
JO: I had sex in a telephone box and someone saw us. I've had sex against scaffolding, too.
CAROL: Is that not a bit dangerous?
JO: No, it was a big scaffolding site and we had dust all over us. That was good sex, actually CAROL: What about the telephone box?
JO: I was very drunk and the risk factor was good. I only seem to do it when I am drunk.

FAKING IT
CAROL: I loved my boyfriend and I didn't want to offend him.
JO: Was he trying so hard?
CAROL: I think lads are selfish in bed. And they just go to sleep.
JO: And you're left there, wide awake. If the sex is too short I fake it, but maybe if you tell them he will try harder the next time.

ONE-NIGHT STANDS
JO: I think I'm the only one who has not had a one-night stand. I am not against them but I've not been in that situation. I would never think someone was a slag but it has never happened.
CAROL: I've had one and I liked it. It felt naughty. I had just split up with my boyfriend of two years and I needed it to happen to show that there was more than one person out there to have sex with.
JO: It was like a release.

OH-NO MOMENTS!
CAROL: My sister has caught me. She came in to ask if she could borrow my conditioner. We were watching a film and started to have sex. When I saw her afterwards she didn't really know what to say so she just said sorry.
JO: What was the film?
CAROL: Cool Runnings, I think.
JO: I've been caught by my sister and you, do you remember?
CAROL: Oh yeah. I was dressed as Superwoman.
JO: And I was naked.
CAROL: You didn't lock your door and I was only going to say goodnight.
JO: After I'd locked the door someone else tried to get in. It was all a bit of a nightmare, really.
CAROL: I didn't even say a word. I think I was too traumatised. Chloe was there full-frontal.
JO: I'm glad I've not been caught by my parents.

SPIT OR SWALLOW?
JO: I swallow. It is easier than finding somewhere to spit. I don't have a problem with swallowing at all.
CAROL: I just move away and get a tissue. I don't spit or swallow. I couldn't swallow it and I have never attempted to. I think it is rank. I just pull away and would rather the bed get it. But, if it went in my mouth I would probably have to swallow it. Blowjobs are boring.

BEDROOM TOYS
CAROL: I've had a boyfriend for such a long time and I saw him that often that I thought I didn't need one. But now that I'm single, I think I might have to invest in one.
JO: I have handcuffs but that's about it. I feel I should experience a bit more with stuff on my own. Those balls you put inside you look like they're fun.
CAROL: I feel the same way.

BUM FUN
CAROL: There is no way, not a chance. It's out of the question.
JO: I have never done it but I might try.
CAROL: Would you?
JO: Yes, why not?
CAROL: It's horrible. I've heard so many horror stories.
JO: I think I would try it out of curiosity. It might take a little persuading and you are really comfortable with your partner.
CAROL: It is the fact that he wants it that worries me.

Those balls you put inside you look like they're fun!

Why I love showing SAMMY DERWENT

By ANN COATES
news@sundaysport.co.uk

SEXY Sammy Derwent is probably the best girlfriend ever – she loves THREESOMES!

The busty 21-year-old student, from Coventry, says her top fantasy is having sex with a horny couple.

The stunning blonde – who boasts all-natural 34C boobs – has FINALLY spilt the beans on her first ever three-in-a-bed romp!

Handcuffed

She said: "Last year, I was having dinner at my mate's flat when we decided to invite her fiancé round for some 'drinks'.

"When he arrived, we immediately led him off into the bedroom and handcuffed him to the frame.

"We started with a little striptease for him – he was quite surprised!

"After several minutes of teasing, we both gave him slippery blowjobs.

"Let's just say the sex was mind-blowing! I'll definitely be going back for seconds!"

Welcome to the world famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice or experience of our own Agony Angels! This week busty Morgan Lees has been reading your letters. Here's her advice...

Dear Morgan,

I PULLED a couple of crackers at a club in my local town a few weeks ago.

They were both blonde and in their early 40s.

And they were as dirty as a dog's arse!

On the night out, I bought them a few drinks and then took them for a bite to eat at a great kebab place I know.

After a good feed and some filthy banter with the two birds, we all got a cab back to my place.

After sharing another bottle of wine at mine, they stripped off and I watched as they put on a bit of a lesbo show for me – licking each other out and everything!

By then I was rock-hard and I got a grip of one of them and boned her from behind while the other tickled my bollocks.

They then both sucked me off and I ended up splashing my steaming hot ball brew on their faces – coating them like a plaster's radio!

I've shagged them a few times since, but the problem is that they now want £50 each for any sessions we have in the future!

Don't get me wrong – I'm half tempted, because I'm 50 and I haven't got a chance of pulling birds like these.

What do you think?

DG, Essex

Morgan says...

IF you can afford it, why not? But don't get too emotionally attached.

No 'tart' sex with wife drives me to hookers!

Dear Morgan,

I'M 45 and have been happily married for 20 years.

I say "happily" but gradually a problem has developed.

While I still have a healthy appetite for sex, the wife has gradually turned in to a frigid, fat, unattractive lump and I'm lucky if a get my leg over once a year.

In the early years she would happily suck me off whenever the mood took her.

I would go down on her, lapping at her fanny, nibbling on her plump pussy-lips before massaging her swollen clit.

One of the best sessions involved her tying my wrists and ankles to the bed and blindfolding me – I never knew what to expect next.

It could mean having wine or ice cream poured over my bits – which she would greedily slurp off.

But the fantasy game we liked playing best was "prostitute and punter".

She would dress as a complete slut – lots of tarty make-up, a tight vest top with no bra underneath, a short tight leather mini-skirt with stockings and suspenders and high heels.

We would hop in the car and I would drive over to a deserted industrial estate near our house at night. She would then get out and stand under a lamp on the corner while I drove once around the block – pretending to be "looking for business".

After negotiating a price I'd whisk her back to the house and give her £20 to suck me off – or £50 for full sex. One time she even let me shaft her right up the arse for £100. She always gave me the cash back!

It was such a thrill peeling off her slutty clothes and then treating her rough as I shagged her all over the bedroom.

Occasionally, in stead of taking her home, I'd take her up a back alley on the industrial estate, push up her skirt and fk her against the wall, which always made her squeal with delight.

These days, alas, the sex has become very routine and infrequent.

So recently I started to get my kicks from shagging street hookers for real.

Letter of the day

I try to recreate the adult fun I used to have with the missus and using prozzies certainly relieves my sexual frustrations.

My only worry is that technically I'm cheating on my wife, who in every other respect I'm still happy to be with.

Should I stop having sex with other women?

EM, Surrey

Morgan says...

NOT if using hookers helps to keep your marriage together. If your wife has a low sex drive, another thing you could perhaps look into is her having some sex therapy.

Sometimes talking about these things – and discussing the incredible nookie you used to have with your wife – might just reignite her passion for you.

Then you wouldn't have to shell out on expensive sex workers, as you'd be getting it for free at home again!

Dear Morgan,

I PULLED a cracking bit of skirt the other night at a mate's 30th birthday party.

She was about 25, with long blonde hair, and her hot bod looked awesome in a skin-tight red dress.

We chatted at the bar for a while and after a couple of shots and glasses of fizz she said she was up for a night of shagging at her place!

In the back of the taxi, she was talking dirty to me and groping my cock through the thin material of my strides.

So by the time we got to her flat, we were both ready for it.

She lived with a friend – who was still sat up in the lounge, watching telly.

But my girl told me not to bother, as she threw me down on a couch, stripped off and got down on her hands and knees to give me a blowjob.

I didn't give a shit about the audience, and leaned back to enjoy the gobble – as her brunette mate watched us at it, while pulling her dressing gown open and rubbing her knickerless pussy.

After almost shooting my load twice, I gave her a clit a good licking before I bent her over the settee and banged her hard from behind until she was screaming with delight.

Meanwhile her flatmate was sat ramming three fingers into her dripping hole while enjoying the floor show.

After I finally climaxed all over the blonde's arse I got dressed and got a taxi home in the early hours.

Now I can't help thinking about a threesome with the pair of them. Is this normal?

WP, South Yorks

Morgan says...

YES – you are still feeling unfulfilled sexually because you didn't get to dip your wick in the brunette.

BRIDES are often keen to have "one last fling" before getting married.

This is why so many of them suck off the stripper on their hen night – or thrutch with an old flame before their Big Day.

But having sex with the chauffeur of bridal limousine is probably cutting things a bit fine. Especially if you make sex squelches while walking up the aisle or let go a fanny fart at the altar.

ART MISS BONKED SIX LADS

By NEIL GOODWIN
neil@sundaysport.co.uk

PROSECUTORS are demanding a 15-year jail sentence for a teacher who had sex with SIX teenage lads.

Nicole Dufault is charged with sexually assaulting the students at the school where she has been a language and arts teacher for nine years.

Dufault, 35, is accused of engaging in sexual activity with the six students on multiple occasions between 2013 and 2014. Some of the romps took place on school property and in her car, say prosecutors.

The students were between 14 and 15 years old at the time.

The evidence against Dufault (right) allegedly includes a video of her performing oral sex on one of the victims.

The video apparently shows Dufault fellating one lad while another is present.

During a search of Dufault's apartment, authorities also found a piece of clothing that she was said to wear in the video.

Single mum-of-two Dufault – who taught at Columbia High School in Maplewood, New Jersey – was arrested and charged in September.

She was indicted last month on 40 counts of sexual assault and endangering the welfare of a child.

Dufault's lawyer called Dufault a "model citizen" with "an impeccable record," and noted she has no prior criminal history, saying she "doesn't even have a traffic ticket."

He added: "She has a lot of support in the school."

SIX NATIONS

THRILLER: Warburton and Halfpenny celebrate the win

Wales	23
Ireland	16

WELSH ARE SAMTHING SPECIAL!

SAM WARBURTON was exhausted and delighted after his Wales blew the Six Nations wide open with a nail-biting win over Ireland.

The enthralling win ended Irish hopes of a Grand Slam and gave Wales a fighting chance of winning the title if they beat Italy next weekend.

After the best match of the championship so far, Warburton admitted: "That's probably the most exhausted I've ever felt after a Test match.

"It was an unbelievable effort. I could not have asked for more from the lads.

"Ireland, to their credit, kept coming and had lot of phases, but our defence was so tough.

"All we had to do was keep our discipline. We did, and we won."

Leigh Halfpenny put the Welsh in control early on, with four penalties, before Johnny Sexton's boot finally got Ireland's first points on the board.

The Irish got a huge boost when Warburton was given a yellow card 12 minutes before half-time.

Sexton kicked a second penalty before a sweetly-struck Dan Biggar drop-goal restored Wales' nine-point advantage.

But Sexton's third successful kick cut the half-time lead to 15-9.

Ireland exerted relentless pressure during the third quarter, but Wales were up to the task defensively, time and time again knocking down Irish attackers, sometimes within inches of their own line.

Wales then stormed upfield and they struck after 62 minutes when Scott Williams sliced through a gap to open up an 11-point lead before Halfpenny's conversion went narrowly wide.

Ireland reduced the arrears when Wales illegally pulled down a maul, and the ref had little option but to award a penalty try – Sexton doing the business.

It set up a nerve-shredding finale, but Wales had just enough left in the tank to secure a famous victory that was sealed by another Halfpenny penalty. The win puts Wales level on points with leaders Ireland and they head to Rome for their final match reasonably optimistic about their chances of lifting the trophy.

Man of the match Warburton added: "We were confident even after we lost to England in our first game.

"But there's still a lot of work to do. We can't just go to Italy and expect to win."

Jenson sees bright future

NEW DEAL: Jenson Button

JENSON BUTTON believes he made the right call re-signing for McLaren, despite the team's current woes.

Button and team-mate Kevin Magnussen – standing in for the absent Fernando Alonso – started the Australian Grand Prix from the back row of the grid.

It was the team's worst qualifying performance in their 49-year history.

But Button, who signed a new two-year deal with McLaren in December, has every faith McLaren and new power-unit supplier Honda will eventually get it right.

The 35-year-old said: "When I re-signed, I was thinking long term.

FORMULA ONE

We're all thinking long term. It's unfair for us to sit here now and be harsh on anyone, because this is a massive learning curve for us.

"This could be something great in the future. That's what we need in the sport, someone to challenge Mercedes.

"I really do think this is the team that can do that, although I know we're a long way off right now.

"It'll be tough for many weeks, but that's what will make us stronger in the future and hopefully build us into a winning team."

WEST HAM'S Enner Valencia will miss the next few games after standing on a broken teacup.

On a positive note for fans it's the closest a Hammers player has been to a cup in years.

But not even this bonkers incident is the best workplace injury story of the week.

Of course I'm talking about poor old Top Gear producer Oisn Tymon, who took a whack off oafish host Jeremy Clarkson.

The buffoon lashed out because he didn't get a steak – but he may now have had his chips at the Beeb.

If he does leave he will clearly be inundated with offers to get his punchable mug back on our screens.

In fact, I think he's already been offered a job as host of the revival of It's A Knockout!

I've heard there may still be a plan to save his role on Top Gear.

Producers are setting up a piece that will see Clarkson drive a Robin Reliant through Syria with the words "Fk ISIS" on the side.

One thing is for sure, Jeremy divides the nation. Plenty of people will be glad to see the back of him, while more than 800,000 people have jumped to his support by signing a petition.

I for one am glad the petition was started. We haven't had an accurate idiot count in this country for a while.

Pete Doherty and Keith Richards are being considered to replace Clarkson on the BBC show, given their long experience with top gear.

But I reckon car nut Chris Evans is nailed on to take over.

DOG LEADS BY MICK LIVESEY

Solider poised to conquer in Steel City

THERE'S a sensational meeting today at Sheffield featuring the final of the Queen Mother Memorial Cup worth £4,000 to the winner.

What better way to spend Mothers Day and even better if we can make the bookies pick up the tab.

In the Puppy Sprint worth £1,000 to the winner I fancy Tin Soldier.

This looks a really exciting prospect and should be a cracking price of around 3/1.

He's got a lovely draw and if he comes away that should be it and we all should form an orderly queue at the kiosk marked 'Pay Out'.

I like the look of Dinzeo in the Queen Mother, he rarely runs a bad race and is a credit to connections.

He is a safer bet than some of his rivals, the key to winning this will be beating red to the corner, if he does that he should make every yard a winning one.

The NB of the day comes in the last race by way of Viking Jack.

When he gets it right at the boxes he is breathtaking.

He got it right at Monmore when he won the Gold Cup and there are signs he is perhaps getting more consistent at the boxes.

The break seems to have done him the world of good and he could even be a live contender for Derby glory in the Summer.

SITTINGBOURNE

Sittingbourne have a cracking card tonight featuring some brilliant racing.

If you are down Kent way make sure you get yourself there or failing that in to a bookmakers to see it live courtesy of BAGS/SIS.

In the Maiden Stayers final worth £500 to-the-winner I think Jolly Razor ticks all the boxes.

I was very impressed with him in the heats and think he's capable of a much better break.

If he comes away in his best fashion he could go a long way clear and it would take some effort to reel him in.

OUR LAST WORD ON THE FAB FOUR

THE REAL AP's Uxizandre win

By MIKE FRANCIS

AS thrilling as Coneygree's Gold Cup win was, as deserved Cole Harden's World Hurdle success, there could be only one high point of this week's Cheltenham Festival.

Just as punters began to worry that the legend Tony McCoy would draw a blank at his final Festival, the greatest jockey of all time did the business on a typical "AP" ride.

He made every yard of the running to win the Ryanair Chase on board UXIZANDRE — and brought the house down with 60,000 punters cheering on the track and millions racing to pick up their winnings in betting shops around the country.

The race is one of the meeting's best, if not a Championship clash, and it will be the overpowering memory we'll all take from the 2015 Cheltenham Festival.

The Gold Cup itself gave us the type of fairytale you only get with jumps racing as CONEYGREE became the first novice to win the big race since Captain Christy in 1974.

The horse was bred by Lord John Oaksey, who was the face of racing on ITV and Channel 4 for decades and the founder of the Injured Jockeys' Fund. He died two years ago but always thought this horse would be a star.

Amazingly, this was just his fourth run over fences and we are not likely to see very much of him until this race rolls round again in 12 months' time.

Dream

He's likely to face opposition from VAUTOUR who was so impressive when taking the JLT Novices' Chase.

Before Coneygree's success, he was installed as favourite for next year's Gold Cup after winning while still in second gear under Ruby Walsh.

It was a dream meeting for Walsh and his boss Willie Mullins, as the jockey rode four winners and the Irish champion trainer sent out no fewer than eight — more than Paul Nicholls, Nicky Henderson and David Pipe combined, and they had decent Festivals themselves.

Looking ahead for punting pointers to the Aintree Grand National Festival, which is just under a month away, WHISPER looks one to take from Cheltenham.

He ran a cracker when fifth in the World Hurdle on Thursday and won the Liverpool Hurdle 12 months ago.

That was his first run over timber since that triumph so he was entitled to need the outing. He'll improve fitness-wise and goes up north with a massive chance of following up. ZARKANDAR ran well too and he's another who will be going to that race with a live chance.

DON COSSACK ran a belter behind Tony McCoy in the Ryanair and might have finished closer than third had he not been badly hampered jumping the second-last fence.

VOLNAY DE THAIX was another to be hampered, this time when just making his challenge in the Coral Cup hurdle. He finished strongly and looks back to something like his best.

JOLLY'S CRACKED IT didn't get home over 2m5f in the Martin Pipe Hurdle and he'd have every chance of scoring if dropping back in distance to around 2m.

No Peace for crying bookies

CHELTENHAM IN THE BETTING JUNGLE

THE country might be skint but punters smashed all betting records at this year's Cheltenham Festival.

Bookmakers William Hill reported increased average turnover across all races with the critical Gold Cup – the third biggest race of the year – exceeding £5million.

The best result of the week for punters came courtesy of Nicky Henderson's Peace And Co in the Triumph Hurdle, who secured a seven-figure boost to punters' coffers swiftly followed by the stinging opening victory by Douvan in the Supreme Novices' Hurdle.

That Peace And Co win has been confirmed as the worst single result for the bookies in the entire history of the Cheltenham Festival.

It was hammered in to 2/1 favourite with dozens of five-figure cash bets recorded in the ring.

After standing long-time ante-post favourite Silviniaco Conti for a liability in excess of £3million, Hills secured their best result of the week in the Gold Cup as Coneygree landed jump racing's pinnacle contest.

And on Thursday, the same firm was no less than £1million behind but then cheered home a three race consecutive run of

£1m LOSS: Peace And Co

£1million+ profit, across the Ryanair Chase, World Hurdle and Brown Advisory and Merriebelle Stable Plate.

Whingeing William Hill PR man Jon Ivan-Duke said: "The Cheltenham Festival must surely be counted as one of sport's greatest success stories of recent years.

"Our punters could not get enough of the four day frenzy this year.

"Turnover grows year-on-year and once again we have smashed through the record books for punter popularity."

After his final Festival, Tony McCoy has been made even money to be knighted in either the 2015 Birthday Honours or 2016 New Year's Honours list.

He'd be the first jockey "Sir" since Gordon Richards in 1953.

Ivan-Duke added: "AP McCoy looks a certainty to be knighted and it may well come sooner rather than later."

If he manages to win the Grand National with what would then surely be his final ride, that even money would look good value.

SHARE THE PAYNE!

IT'S MERV PAYNE WITH A FAN'S VIEW OF THE FOOTIE WEEK

TV must share blame for Villa pitch invasion

I HAD to laugh about the hysteria over the pitch invasions at Aston Villa last week.

Yes, certain elements of the crowd's behaviour at the FA Cup derby clash with West Brom were wrong – the seat throwing for one.

But to condemn a pitch celebration as "disgraceful" when the same scenes at the famous Hereford v Newcastle tie back in 1972 are used to promote the competition on television smacks of laughable double standards.

What they should be focusing on is the fact that yet again a kick-off time has been dictated by the TV companies and contributed to the trouble in allowing fans to get pissed up before the game.

Alcohol restriction was one of the first tactics to be used to combat hooliganism in the 80s, yet it seems to have been completely ignored lately in the quest for more and more telly cash.

IAN HOLLOWAY once used an analogy of going on the pull to describe his team's ugly win.

Holloway's strained relationship with Millwall finally came to an end last week, leaving fans feeling like they'd pulled the really attractive barmaid they'd fancied for years – only to discover she was crap in bed.

ARE you entering the Blue Peter competition to design the 2015 FA Cup final mascot? I am – under a false age, of course.

I'm torn between two characters though, both of whom perfectly sum up the FA.

I'm thinking of either a fat cat in a pin-stripe suit, or a white elephant.

VETERAN front man Emile Heskey has agreed a new deal with Bolton.

The contract is said to involve several add-ons, including a stair-lift, a weekly supply of Werther's Originals and some plastic bedsheets.

BLUES ARE NO WORSE THAN EURO CHEATS!

WITH English league clubs exiting Europe quicker than a UKIP government, it's interesting how Chelsea have been made particular villains of the piece.

In fact, the Stamford Bridge club must wonder if they've overtaken Farage's Purple Peril as the UK's most unpopular people right now.

Yes, their performance against PSG was cynical – but have the nutters that took to social media to decry them as the footballing antichrist watched any football at all over the last 20 years?

Mark my words, there won't be a single club in the last eight of the Champions League that won't have a whole load of tricks up their sleeves in order to win at all costs. Just like Chelsea.

MERV'S FACT HUNT

LAST week I asked which team had made the most appearances in the last 32 of the FA Cup. The answer was Aston Villa.

This week's Fact Hunt poser is: Who scored Nottingham Forest's only Premier League hat-trick?

Answer next week...

BARCLAYS PREMIER LEAGUE ALL THE LATEST ON THE REST OF

SENT OFF: Gael Clichy

RED END MEANS A BAD END FOR PELLE

By SEAN RAFTER

MANUEL PELLEGRINI has ordered his Manchester City players not to see RED if they are to pull off a Champions League miracle on Wednesday.

To have any chance of coming away from Barcelona with a famous victory, City need to do something they have failed to do in three previous meetings against the Catalan giants – keep 11 players on the pitch.

Martin Demichelis and Pablo Zabaleta were sent off when the sides met at the same stage of last season's competition, while this year's first leg saw Gael Clichy dismissed.

Pellegrini knows City can't afford any red cards at the Nou Camp as they attempt to turn round a 2-1 deficit from the first leg of their last-16 clash.

"We can't play with one player less against Barcelona," said the City boss.

"We made the same mistake. Last year it was 35 minutes when Demichelis was sent off, this year it was 20 minutes.

"We played very well in the second half and had five clear options to score, but playing 20 minutes with one player less is very difficult against Barcelona.

Frustrations

"A small thing can change the score and the result, and in the knockout stage you can't make those kinds of mistakes."

City know from experience how difficult it is to overturn a deficit at the Nou Camp, as last year's 2-0 home loss grew into a 4-1 aggregate defeat.

Statistics are also against them. Four-time winners Barcelona, who are featuring at the last-16 stage for an 11th successive year while City appear for only the second time, have lost just twice in 29 home games against English sides.

The Spanish giants have also progressed on 33 of the 35 occasions they have won the first leg of a tie away from home.

Pellegrini himself has tasted only occasional success against Barcelona.

His frustrations with City have come after nine years in La Liga when, as boss of Villarreal, Real Madrid and Malaga, he managed just four wins in 22 encounters.

Euro disaster will bring a Mour positive reaction

WARY: Koeman

WARNING: Jose Mourinho

JOSE MOURINHO has warned his Premier League title rivals: "I always react well to setbacks."

The Chelsea boss vowed his side will respond to their Champions League exit at the hands of Paris St-Germain.

Mourinho has already confidently predicted the Blues will go on to add the title to their Capital One Cup triumph.

"I have the same belief in these players," he insisted.

"One thing is to be disappointed and try to find the reasons why we, not them, didn't succeed in these games.

"Another thing is to lose belief in the players. These are the same players who have been top of the league since day one.

"Not yesterday, or in August, and then down and up. Since day one."

Mourinho does not agree with the mantra that defeats make you stronger.

"The best way to be stronger is to win all the time. It's the best way," he said.

"When you say when you lose you are stronger – no. You can learn from bad moments, but the best way is to win all the time."

Mourinho will resist wholesale changes despite the Champions League disappointment.

"The changes I will make won't be to punish mistakes," he added.

"They'll be because I want to rest this one player, give a chance to that one, play a different way.

"Two or three changes. Four maximum."

Southampton manager Ronald Koeman has challenged his players to be fearless at Stamford Bridge.

Focus

"Confidence and not afraid," the Dutchman said when asked how Saints need to approach the match.

"That is the most important thing when you play against big teams in an away game – that you be yourself and you focus on your own game, your own way of playing, your own organisation.

"We know one of the best 45 minutes we played this season was at home against Chelsea, and that gives the team and the players confidence that we can have a good result.

While Saints have been impressive on the road, Koeman is wary of a Chelsea backlash after their European disaster.

"They will do everything to win the game," said Koeman.

"That's a normal reaction, they need a win after a disappointing result."

CARVER: I WANT LU STOPPED

NEWCASTLE boss John Carver has told his players: "Stop Romelu Lukaku."

Carver is well aware of the threat the Belgium striker (right) poses, having seen him score three times in as many appearances for Everton against Toon.

"Lukaku is a threat, he's a big strong lad," said Carver.

"He wasn't cheap, he didn't cost two balloons and a goldfish.

"He did a fantastic job when he was at West Brom and we've got to make sure we contain that threat."

Newcastle go to Goodison with a depleted squad. Midfielder Mehdi Abeid has joined a lengthy casualty list with a thigh problem and Papiss Cisse starts his seven-match ban for spitting.

However, Jack Colback is available after sitting out the last two games and fellow midfielder Remy Cabella has shaken off a knee problem.

Everton boss Roberto Martinez is keen for Toffees fans to play a key role in their fight to stay clear of the relegation zone.

The Spaniard said: "It should be an advantage to play at home.

"We know when we are brave and have a really good intensity and tempo in our play, playing at Goodison is an incredible advantage.

"I think the crowd understands that our dressing room is a phenomenal one in terms of characters, in terms of knowing what it means to play for Everton, of the youth that we have, the talent that is there.

"The understanding is there that we need to support each other."

HE'S SIMPLY DE BEST!

KING OF THE GLOVES: David de Gea is hugely admired by team-mate Victor Valdes (inset)

DAVID DE GEA is the best goalkeeper in the world.

That's the verdict of his rival Victor Valdes, who says he can have no complaints about sitting on the Manchester United bench.

Boss Louis van Gaal won the race to sign Valdes in January, but his only appearances in a United shirt so far have come in the Under-21 side.

Despite being a three-time Champions League winner, Valdes is yet to turn out for the senior team because De Gea's form has been sensational.

But Valdes bears no ill feeling towards his fellow Spaniard. Instead, he can only marvel at his performances.

Amazing

"You are always waiting for your opportunity to play and train every day to show your performance to the manager," said former Barcelona No.1 Valdes.

"But now David is at a very, very high performance level.

"I think he is the most important goalkeeper in the world at the moment. So it is difficult for me to play and, of course, I must accept this.

"For me, the top keeper now is David. I see him every day in training. I watch him in every game, every week, and his performances right now are amazing."

Negotiations have begun between De Gea and United over an extension to his contract, which expires next year.

Real Madrid are waiting in the wings to pounce for the 24-year-old as a replacement for veteran Iker Casillas.

De Gea will need to be at his best when Tottenham's in-form hitman Harry Kane comes calling to Old Trafford today.

Both clubs are desperate for the points as they battle to nail down a top-four finish.

Spurs boss Mauricio Pochettino handed his squad a much-needed break during the week – but revealed he turned down requests for a longer rest as he worked his players hard ahead of the crunch clash.

After crashing out of the Europa League, Pochettino decided to allow his players some time off – but not too much.

"They only had two days off," said the Argentine.

"They asked for more, but we need to work. They deserved the two days off to have time with their families.

Respect

"It has been tough since the beginning of the season. But in the way that we play we want to improve our play and it was important to still work hard.

"We have full respect for Man United, but we are very focused on our game.

"A lot of teams are fighting for the same target. We are very close, but we know it is very difficult. We will see what will happen."

DEAL OR NO DEAL? Raheem Sterling

Contract stalling Sterling going nowhere, says relaxed Rodgers

Swansea v Liverpool

Monday, 8pm – Live on Sky Sports 1

LIVERPOOL manager Brendan Rodgers insists he is "relaxed" about Raheem Sterling's contract situation – and insists his prize asset is going nowhere.

Top English and European clubs are back on red alert after it emerged that talks over a new contract for England forward Sterling have stalled.

The Reds have tabled what Rodgers recently described as an "incredible" offer – reported to be in the region of £100,000-a-week.

Sterling only signed an improved contract in December 2012 and his current deal does not expire until 2017, which is why Rodgers is content to play a waiting game.

"There is nothing new to report on it. I am quite relaxed about Raheem's situation," said Rodgers.

"He is not going anywhere in a hurry. He has still got this season and another couple of years to go on his contract.

"I think it is quite obvious when you look at Raheem's situation, anyone with Raheem's best interests would see Liverpool as the best option for his career.

RETURN: Steven Gerrard

Ransom

"He turned 20 in December and he has made 114 appearances, which is a remarkable amount at a club of this size to be given that opportunity.

"He has made it clear himself that he loves being here and I think he was quoted as saying this is the best place for any young player to develop, so that makes me quite relaxed.

"I am sure the club and his representatives will find the solution for that."

Rodgers has previously suggested the club would not be held to ransom by Sterling's agent and said the contract offer they had made was more than fair for a player of his age and potential.

Asked why he thought a deal had not been agreed yet, Rodgers added: "I'm not sure. It is not in my area really.

"I speak to Raheem about his football and concentrate on his football and see what goes from there."

Liverpool will be boosted by the return of Steven Gerrard from a hamstring problem which has sidelined him for seven matches.

Defender Martin Skrtel, who suffered a head injury last weekend against Blackburn in the FA Cup, and midfielder Joe Allen are both fit.

PAT'LL DO NICELY: Bamford rolls home his first goal after (inset left) Adomah celebrates making it 2-1

Pat leads Boro charge with brilliant double

PATRICK BAMFORD struck two stunning second-half goals as Middlesbrough put their promotion rivals to the sword.

Middlesbrough	4
Ipswich	1

Daniel Ayala gave Aitor Karanka's side an early lead, but Championship top scorer Daryl Murphy equalised with his 23rd goal of the season.

Boro regained the lead through Albert Adomah, before Bamford's brace made sure of the points.

Boro flew straight out of the traps and forced the opener in the third minute after Jelle Vossen won a corner.

Former Ipswich midfielder Grant Leadbitter played it short to Adam Clayton, who clipped a perfect ball into the six-yard box for Ayala to glance past Dean Gerken.

The Tractor Boys' goalkeeper then had to be replaced by Bartosz Bialkowski following a collision with Ayala which brought a five-minute delay.

When play resumed, Ipswich drew level almost immediately.

Middlesbrough keeper Dimi Konstantopoulos managed to get a hand to Jonathan Parr's thundering shot, but the ball fell to Murphy and he poked in from close range.

Murphy almost bagged his second in the 22nd minute when Boro failed to clear a corner.

But the Irishman's shot was deflected onto a post before Konstantopoulos managed to gather.

Clever

Boro regained the lead on the half-hour after a well-worked set-piece fell to Adomah and the winger drilled through a crowd of players past Bialkowski.

The second half started sluggishly, but Boro created a good opportunity on 53 minutes.

George Friend played an impressive diagonal ball to Adomah on the right flank and his left-foot cross found Vossen, but he miskicked his shot and the ball looped over.

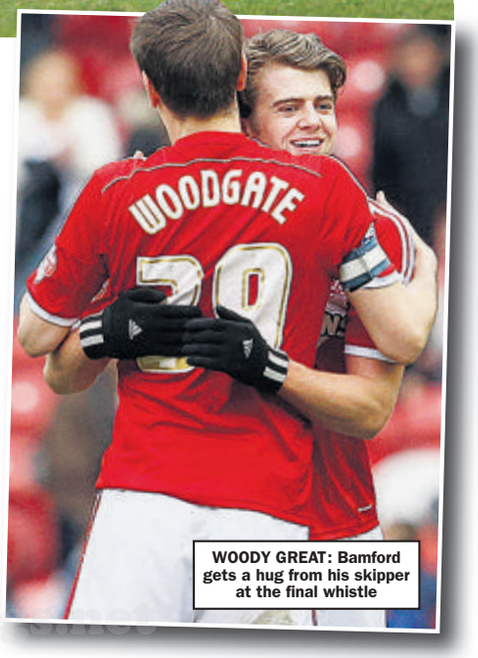

Boro gave themselves a cushion with the third goal in the 64th minute.

Vossen's clever header put Bamford through on goal and the on-loan Chelsea hitman calmly rounded Bialkowski before rolling into an empty net for his 12th of the season.

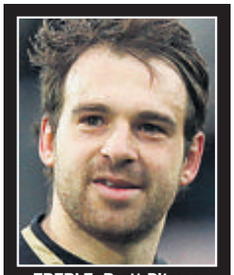

The 21-year-old got his second in the 79th minute with a superb individual effort.

He dummied Tommy Smith, turning the central defender inside-out before firing low past Bialkowski.

Bamford should have bagged his hat-trick four minutes from time. Adomah raced clear and laid the ball off for the striker, but he ballooned a right-foot effort over the bar.

TREBLE: Brett Pitman

THE REST OF THE DAY'S ACTION

BRETT PITMAN bagged a hat-trick as Bournemouth blew away Blackpool for the second time this season to stay top.

Callum Wilson added a fourth from the spot after the break to earn the Cherries a third straight win, while Blackpool look certs for League One next season after a fifth loss in a row left them 18 points from safety.

Watford joined Bournemouth on 69 points with a 4-1 victory at home to Reading. Almen Abdi, Matej Vydra, Troy Deeney and Fernando Forestieri were all on target for the Hornets, with Jem Karacan replying.

Two more title hopefuls battled it out at Carrow Road, where Norwich and Derby drew 1-1.

Cameron Jerome fired the Canaries ahead, but an own goal by John Ruddy meant it finished all square.

Brentford were the only losers in the top six as they were beaten 2-1 at home to Cardiff, who ended the game with nine men.

Trapdoor

Andre Gray gave the Bees the lead but goals from Federico Macheda and Alex Revell turned the match on its head, before Kadeem Harris and Macheda were sent off late on.

Wolves needed a Rajiv van La Parra equaliser to draw 1-1 at Brighton, who went in front through Bruno Saltor.

At the bottom, Millwall look likely to follow Blackpool through the trapdoor after Adam Le Fondre's first-half double gave Bolton a 2-0 win.

Jermaine Pennant kept Wigan's survival hopes alive as two superb free-kicks handed them a 2-1 win at Rotherham. Matt Derbyshire headed a reply for the Millers.

Elsewhere, Jordan Rhodes' brace helped Blackburn to a 3-1 victory at Charlton, while Matt Smith's leveller earned Fulham a 1-1 draw at Sheffield Wednesday.

Joe Lolley gave Huddersfield a point in a 1-1 draw at Birmingham, while Leeds and Nottingham Forest drew 0-0 at Elland Road.

RAMSEY: WE'LL FIGHT TO THE BITTER END!

C Palace 3 QPR 1

QPR boss Chris Ramsey will not give up the survival fight despite being dealt a hammer blow by Palace.

Three first-half goals gave Rangers a mountain to climb before Matt Phillips pulled one back with a sensational 40-yard strike seven minutes from time.

But it will be of little consolation to Ramsey and his team, who stay rooted in the bottom three.

Ramsey said: "There wasn't one player I could look at and say, 'He threw the towel in'.

"The only thing we can do is go back to the drawing board. The fact is we let ourselves down in key moments and we need to take that out of our game.

"I wouldn't say I'm confident of staying up because I don't think anyone below that line is confident, but we still have the willingness and we still have the players that can complete the task."

Palace had to wait until the 21st minute before making the breakthrough.

Yannick Bolasie did the damage, ghosting down the left to send a low, driven cross to the far post, where Wilfried Zaha turned home under pressure. Bolasie did the trick again to double Palace's lead, this time crossing for James McArthur to slide home from close in.

The collapse didn't stop there though, as Joel Ward made it 3-0 before the break when his deflected shot found its way into the far corner.

Just as the match was petering out, Phillips came up with an absolute blinder from nowhere, leaving Palace keeper Julian Speroni clutching thin air with his thunderbolt into the top corner. Palace fans could only applaud the audacious effort – but it was as much as QPR could manage.

Alan Pardew hailed the impact of wide men Bolasie and Zaha.

The Palace boss said: "It was like a throwback today to an old Palace team and it was a great victory for us.

"When you've got players with the quality they've got – well, you can't coach it.

"What I can do is get them in the right place at the right time, where they should be and what they should do for the team.

"That's all I'm trying to educate them on, along with scoring more goals."

TWO EASY: Benteke jumps for joy after netting Villa's fourth

It's double trouble for grumpy Gus

Sunderland 0

Aston Villa 4

CHRISTIAN BENTEKE and Gabby Agbonlahor combined to leave Gus Poyet's job on a knife-edge.

Villa – who had scored only four league goals on the road all season – doubled that tally in a first-half rampage.

And only a glaring miss by Scott Sinclair stopped Tim Sherwood's men going in with a 5-0 lead at the break.

Doubles from Benteke and Agbonlahor left Poyet being confronted by furious Sunderland fans close to his dug-out at the Stadium of Light's biggest crowd of the season.

The Black Cats have now won just one of their last 11 league games on home soil as their season unravels alarmingly.

Before kick-off, the two sides had the worst scoring records in the Premier League – but Villa's first-half blitz made a mockery of that stat.

They got the ball rolling inside 16 minutes when Charles N'Zogbia flicked the ball around Patrick van Aanholt to Leandro Bacuna.

Boos

He charged upfield before squaring for the Belgium international to side-foot past Costel Pantilimon, with the help of a slight deflection off John O'Shea.

The Republic of Ireland defender was more culpable two minutes later when he failed to cut out Ciaran Clark's long ball and Agbonlahor ran in to beat Pantilimon with ease to make it 2-0.

The Black Cats, who offered very little going forward, had appeals for a 33rd-minute penalty waved away after Jermain Defoe played the ball against Clark's arm.

And their woes were increased minutes later when N'Zogbia and Bacuna combined to play Agbonlahor in, and he cut inside Brown before calmly slotting home for a second time.

A mass walkout – which had started after the second goal – grew in size and several fans had to be led away by stewards after heading towards the dug-out to scream at Poyet.

But their pain was far from over and Benteke extended Villa's lead a minute before the break when he powered home a header from another Bacuna cross.

The boos which greeted the half-time whistle were deafening – and they were repeated as the players returned 15 minutes later.

Sunderland at least made a fight of it after the break.

Sprawling

Villa keeper Brad Guzan was sent sprawling anxiously across his goal by Larsson's 68th-minute curling free-kick, which flew just wide.

And Darren Fletcher was unfortunate to see his 81st-minute effort come back off the post.

But as the game ground towards its inevitable conclusion, there were thousands of empty seats – and all the noise was coming from the visiting supporters high up in the stand behind Guzan.

Brown eases pressure as Pulis puts one over old club

BROWN IDEYE'S first-half winner pulled West Brom 11 points clear of the relegation zone as Tony Pulis came back to haunt Stoke again.

The striker netted his seventh goal of the season as former Potters manager Pulis – who also beat Stoke 1-0 while at Crystal Palace last season – saw the Baggies recover from back-to-back defeats against Aston Villa.

Albion were also denied a penalty after Craig Dawson appeared to be fouled in the box, while Ideye also had a goal disallowed.

Stoke were poor, although Jonathan Walters did force substitute goalkeeper Boaz Myhill into a smart second-half save.

Mark Hughes' side were rattled early as Albion looked for the breakthrough.

Asmir Begovic turned Saido Berahino's shot wide and then clutched the striker's drive as the Baggies dominated.

HAUNTING: Tony Pulis

Shocking

West Brom went ahead on 19 minutes when Ideye ended his four-game goal drought.

It was the result of shocking defending by Phil Bardsley as he backed off Ideye, allowing him to stoop and nod Craig Gardner's cross into the corner.

Stoke survived another scare when Ideye had a goal ruled out – correctly – for offside after Begovic had spilled the ball.

The Baggies suffered a blow 10 minutes into the second half when keeper Ben Foster was forced off after landing awkwardly and was replaced by Myhill.

Berahino headed wide, but Stoke began to pin Albion back.

Myhill turned Walters' header over, before the keeper and Gareth McAuley were forced into scrambling clearances.

Begovic produced a fine save to deny Ideye on 65 minutes and West Brom should have had a penalty 10 minutes later.

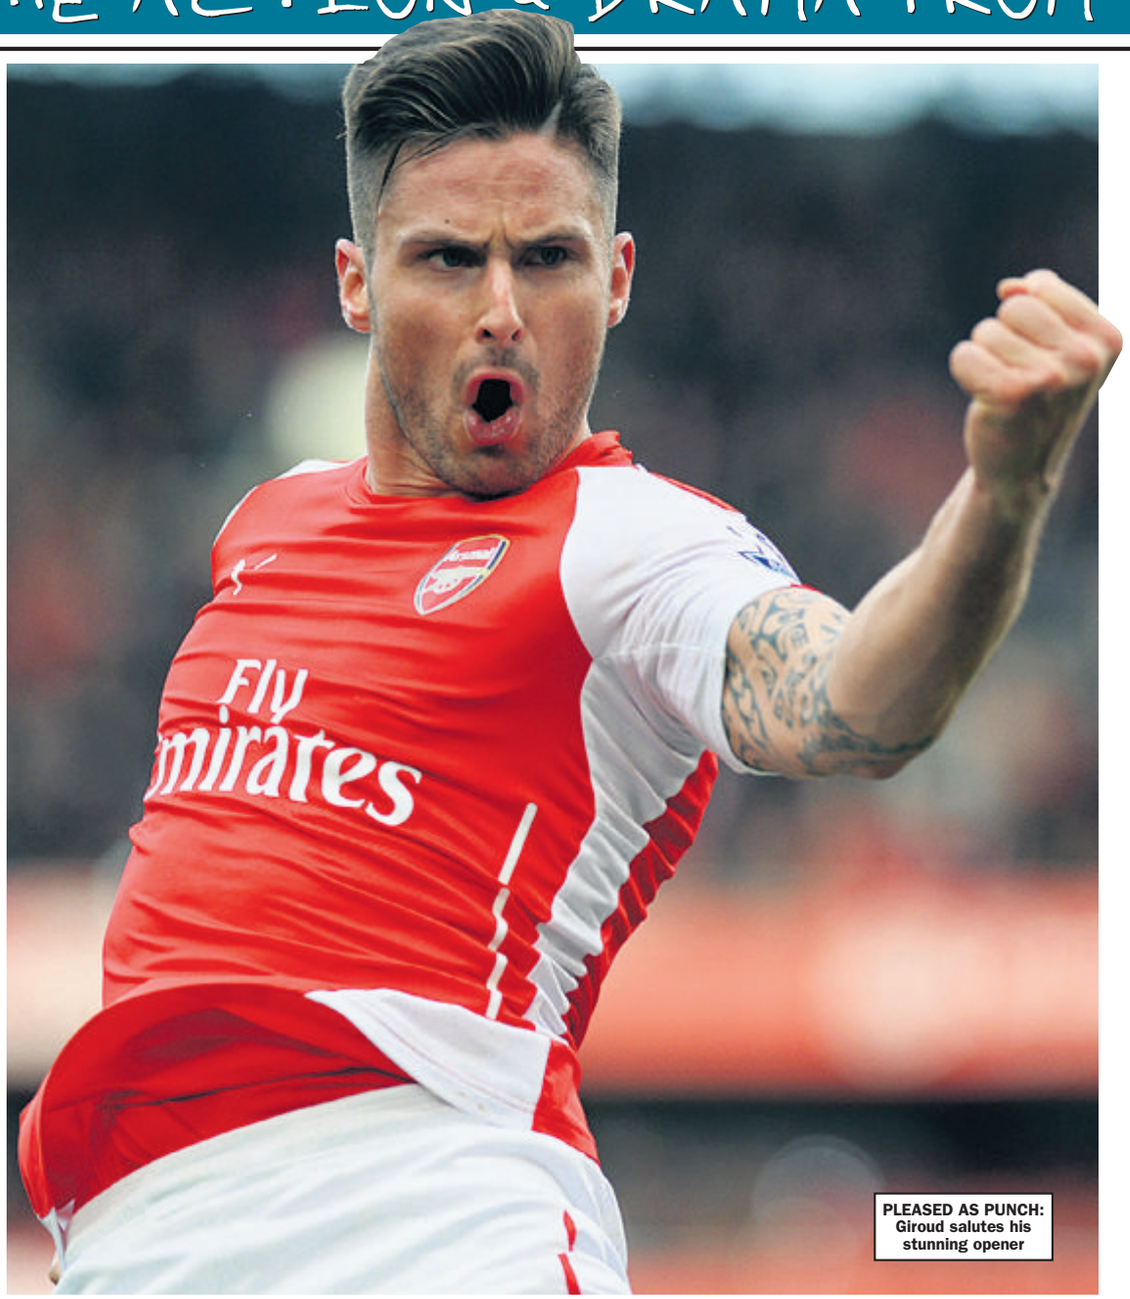

Dawson appeared to be felled by Geoff Cameron, but referee Michael Oliver ignored the claims.

Albion survived a scare in stoppage time when Myhill clattered into Peter Crouch.

Fortunately for the keeper, it was just outside the area and Myhill got away with just a booking.

HAMMERS KILLED OFF BY OL FIRE

Giroud stunner ends stubborn resistance

OLIVIER GIROUD'S thunderbolt kept Arsenal on course for a top-four finish.

The Gunners bagged the points after finally seeing off a spirited second-half effort from West Ham.

Theo Walcott, recalled by Arsene Wenger after injury ruled out Alex Oxlade-Chamberlain, missed a couple of early chances to mark his return with a goal.

Hammers goalkeeper Adrian was beaten on the stroke of half-time by a fierce angled drive from Giroud which cannoned in off the far post.

West Ham, who have plummeted down the table following a poor run of results, regrouped for the second half and would have been good value for an equaliser.

Impact

But Arsenal broke them down again with nine minutes left when Aaron Ramsey fired in after a neat one-two with Giroud.

And substitute Mathieu Flamini rolled home a third to send Wenger's side into their Champions League tie away to Monaco with renewed hope of an unlikely comeback.

Walcott had a chance to make an early impact when he was sent clear by Giroud's flick.

But the England forward hesitated in the six-yard box and James Collins made a last-ditch block as referee Chris Foy waved away appeals for a penalty.

Adrian then had to be alert to turn away a bullet header from Alexis Sanchez.

West Ham, who had just one win from the last nine league games, looked dangerous on the counter.

Matt Jarvis got clear down the right and pulled the ball back to Kevin Nolan on the edge of the penalty area.

The Hammers captain drilled a volley which Gunners keeper David Ospina scrambled away.

Arsenal came close to snatching the lead when Ramsey's flick off his knee from Calum Chambers' cross was palmed over by Adrian.

The Spaniard was needed again in the 33rd minute after Walcott latched on to a Ramsey through-ball but saw his effort blocked at the near post.

Sanchez had an effort palmed away and was booked for handball as he flapped at a high ball into the six-yard box.

Mesut Ozil's snapshot was deflected out by Adrian, but Walcott fired way too high.

The Gunners forced the breakthough in first-half stoppage time with a goal of the highest quality.

A quick exchange of passes around the penalty area saw Ramsey feed Giroud and the French striker rifled a left-foot strike in off the far post.

West Ham were much improved in the secvond half, with Jarvis blazing a shot over from a corner.

On the hour referee Foy pulled up with an injury and was replaced by fourth official Anthony Taylor.

Drilled

Arsenal made a change in the 65th minute when Sanchez was replaced by Danny Welbeck.

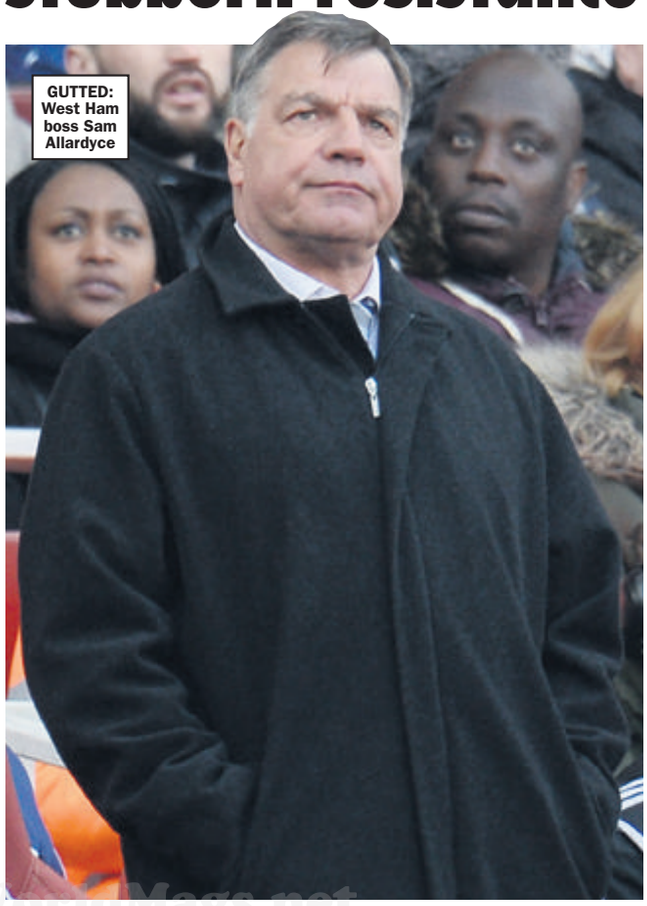

Walcott's knockdown was volleyed wide by Ramsey before the Gunners finally ended West Ham's resilience with a second goal in the 81st minute.

Giroud and Ramsey exchanged a one-two on the right side of the penalty area before the Wales midfielder drilled past Adrian.

Flamini had not been on the pitch long before he arrived on cue at the far post for a tap-in after Santi Cazorla's one-two with Giroud.

Foxes fail to hunt down win after Hudd red end

ROCK-BOTTOM Leicester failed to cash in after Tom Huddlestone's sending-off handed them a huge opportunity at the King Power Stadium.

The Foxes were second best for most of the game, but when Huddlestone was dismissed for a second booking in the 71st minute they had a priceless chance to throw themselves a relegation lifeline.

Manager Nigel Pearson emptied his bench of attackers in pursuit of three points – but to no avail.

It took 20 minutes for a chance to arrive, and Steve Bruce's side should have taken the lead.

Huddlestone chipped a pass over the Leicester defence and into the path of the overlapping Ahmed Elmohamady.

The Egyptian cushioned the ball perfectly across goal on the volley, leaving Nikica Jelavic with a clear shot at goal from six yards.

Lashed

But the Croatian mistimed his connection, got the ball lost under his feet and the chance went begging.

Leicester created a handful of half-chances. Andrej Kramaric left Huddlestone for dead with a neat turn just before the break but lashed wide.

Hull keeper Allan McGregor was forced into a rare save when Jamie Vardy's wayward cross threatened to sneak into the top corner.

The Tigers went down to 10 men when Huddlestone body-checked Vardy on the edge of the area to pick up a second caution.

Leicester might have scored from the resulting free-kick, but Jeffrey Schlupp's shot struck Leo Ulloa and Paul McShane charged down Esteban Cambiasso's attempt from the rebound.

McGregor held firm under pot-shots and Matthew Upson got a poor connection when he met an injury-time corner.

Hull might have stolen victory from a quickly taken free-kick, but Abel Hernandez's low shot was woeful.
